Three Die in Area Crashes

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

STONE RIDGE

Three traffic deaths were recorded in Ulster County within a 10-hour period Wednesday, including a double fatality on Route 209 last night in which two teenage itinerant blacktop installers were killed in a pick-up truck that burst into flames when it crashed into a tree.

In the single fatality shortly before noon yesterday, a retired school teacher of Highland was killed in a two car crash on Route 299 and South Street in the Town of Lloyd.

State police at Kingston tentatively identified the victims of last night's crash in Stone Ridge as Frank Mitchell, 17, and Michael Mitchell, 15, both of Boston, Mass. It could not be immediately determined if they were brothers or cousins, police said.

Troopers said the two were pinned in the wreckage for more than an hour before state police were able to remove the bodies. The truck carried blacktopping materials and possibly a can of gasoline, which burst into flames when the truck hit the tree. Stone Ridge and High Falls volunteer fire companies responded and extinguished the blaze.

The mishap was investigated by BCI Investigators John Salters and Fred Gruenwald. Also at the scene to assist were Sgt. Charles Bundschuh and Troopers Bruce McNab and Robert House of Kingston station.

Coroner Arthur C. Chipp said today there was no identification on the charred bodies which are now undergoing post-mortem examination at the morgue in Kingston Hospital. A friend of the two victims, who is not identified, gave the information which provided tentative identification of the bodies, the coroner said.

Although the informant said the two teenagers were from Boston, Mass., the truck had Florida license plates.

Coroner Chipp issued a verdict of accidenial death pending completion of post-mortems some time this afternoon.

The state police report noted the pickup was proceeding north on Route 209 at a high rate of speed when the vehicle failed to negotiate a dangerous curvy section of Route 209 north of the Cottekill Road, crashed into a tree on the west shoulder and burst into a flaming inferno.

The bodies were so badly charred that at first it was believed that the truck held three bodies and identification was impossible. There were skid marks along the highway for about 100 feet indicating that the truck was proceeding at a high rate of speed. The victims were apparently killed on impact and troopers had to wait until the truck cooled off before attempting to remove the remains.

During the preliminary investigation one of the informants told state police the two victims may have been attending a wedding reception at Tongore Park prior to the mishap.

In the Highland crash yesterday, Mrs. Clara Gaffney, 67 of Tuckers Corners Road, Highland was reported dead on arrival at Kingston Hospital where two injured passengers in her car were conveyed by Fatum's ambulance.

They are Margaret E. Hunter 41 of Orchard Street, Hurley, who suffered a broken left clavicle, facial lacerations and chest injuries and Jeanine Hunter, 3, same address, broken right thigh. Hospital officials said they were both doing fine today.

Milhaly D. Markovics, 33 of South Clinton Street, Poughkeepsie who had his wife, another woman and two children as passengers, told troopers he would see his own physician.

Mrs. Gaffney, wife of Frank Gaffney, a County Highway Department employe, was pinned in the wreckage of the foreign made sedan and had to be extricated from the vehicle by troopers.

Highland state police said the Hunter vehicle was northbound on South Street and failed to halt at a stop sign at Route 299, and the Markovics station wagon approaching the intersection struck the smaller vehicle in the door on the passenger side.

The passengers in the Markovics station wagon did not report injuries to state police. BCI Investigator Roger D. Gardner and Troopers S. T. Roberts and R. J. Faugh responded to the call.

The three fatalities yesterday brought the county total for this year to 13.

The last traffic fatality occurred earlier this month on May 9 at Plattekill. Nilba Pagan, 16, of Plattekill was killed and two younger sisters injured when hit by a car as they walked along Plattekill turnpike. The driver was John W. Curtis, 32, of Wallkill.

Arterial Plans To Council June 1

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The State Department of Transportation will submit its final plans for the Ulster Arterial to the Common Council by June 1, according to Emillio A. Primo Jr. (D-Eighth Ward), chairman of the Council's Arterial Comm.ttee.

Under state law, the city of Kingston must approve the new road before work can proceed. A vote is expected at the July meeting of the Council.

Primo said he has a number of reservations about the proposed new $20,000,000 highway which will begin at the Kingston side of Port Ewen, cross the Rondout Creek near the old Hasbrouck Avenue, continue up the hill to an interchange at Delaware and Hasbrouck Avenue and continue out to Rt. 32 roughly parallel with East Chester Street.

"Our main concern is the number of properties that will be taken by this new road," Primo told The Freeman. "Right now it looks like about 20 properties, including those that have already been taken in the Broadway East urban renewal project."

Special

Primo also thinks that the interchange at the top of Hasbrouck Avenue and Delaware Avenue will create a "bottleneck" on Hasbrouck Avenue. Plans call for one-way traffic off the interchange up Hasbrouck and down Delaware.

State officias, of course, would like city approval of the new road as soon as possible. According to Primo, they've already spent more than a million dollars in the design and planning stage of the highway. Primo and his committee, which includes John P. Heitzman (D-First Ward), Brian D. Smith (R-Third Ward, Clifford Sinabaugh (D-10th Ward), and Edmond J. Roux (R-Ninth Ward), met with state highway officials in Poughkeepsie to discuss the new road about a month ago.

There will be more meetings. "We expect the plans by June 1," Primo said. "We'll review them and then meet with the state highway people again to discuss them. There are still a lot of questions."

Primo said he also plans neighborhood meetings with his constituents in the Eighth Ward.

The construction start is still a good two years away. The Council will receive the state's final right of way plans. Upon approval, the state will begin buying properties along that right of way.

There is some doubt as to the possibility of another public hearing on the road. The state insists that its legal requirements in that aspect were fulfilled with a public hearing on Jan. 17, 1967 at the New York State Armory. It has been reported, however, that under new federal statutes (part of the highway runs through the federally-financed urban renewal project) another public hearing would have to be held.

The State Department of Transportation refers to the Ulster Arterial as "a partially controlled access highway," similar to the Col. Chandler Drive which links Kingston with the Rt. 28 interchange and the New York State Thruway.

There will be intersections (on the new road) at grade but no private accesses such as driveways. Intersections are planned at Meadow Street and at the new Murray Street in the Broadway East project with interchanges at Delaware Avenue and at the Kingston city line near Rt. 32.

The fate of the new road is now entirely in the hands of the Kingston Common Council. As one state highway official put it, "If they reject it, it's all over."

Pro-Nixon Rally—150,000 Enthusiastic, Peaceful

NEW YORK (UPI)—Backers of President Nixon jammed City Hall Park Wednesday in a noisy but peaceful rally—the largest ever held supporting the administration's Indochina policies.

Estimates of the huge crowd, which included construction workers, longshoremen, bricklayers, steamfitters and other industrial and office employes, ranged up to 150,000.

Thousands of policemen, 2,700 of them on overtime, patrolled the area but had little trouble with the demonstrators who heeded requests by their leaders to "recognize the right to protest whether we agree or not."

The remark, by Peter J. Brennan president of the Construction Trades Council, appeared to be an admonition to the hardhats who on May 8 demonstrated at City Hall and later roamed the financial district beating up a number of long-haired war protesters and college students.

No Arrests Made

There were no arrests Wednesday and only a few reports of minor scuffling.

In the only other hard hat pro-administration demonstration reported Wednesday about 1,000 flag-waving construction workers paraded at City Hall in Buffalo, N.Y.

The workers carried signs saying "Stop the Reds—Win in Vietnam" and "America—Love it or Leave it" and handed out bumper stickers reading "Support our President."

The main themes of the demonstration here appeared to be peace and patriotism.

Under a sea of American flags the hard-hats and their comrades shouted pro-Nixon and patriotic slogans while a band on the speakers platform played "God Bless America," "76 Trombones," a number of World War II fighting songs and a medley of George M. Cohan airs as a finale.

Directed Against Mayor

The rally was directed almost as much against Mayor John V. Lindsay as it was for the President.

Many demonstrators carried placards saying "Impeach the Red Mayor," "Impeach Red John Lindsay," "Dump Anarchy" and "No Surrender." A loud cheer went up when a hard-hat shinnied up a lightpole and flung a rope over the top from which was hung a stuffed figure labeled "Lindsay's war heroes."

An honorable end to the war in Vietnam and the right of dissent were emphasized by speakers who addressed the huge throng.

"America does not want to see the war in Vietnam," Brennan said. "What it wants to see is democracy. We are here as Americans. We are here although we may not agree with many things that are said by others."

"Has Right to Opinion"

Teddy Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said his men believe "everybody has the right to an opinion."

"Most of the people who expected trouble will be disappointed," he added. "We want peace as much as the others want it, but we want an honorable peace."

Hard-hat resentment of anti-war demonstrations boiled over May 8 when several hundred construction workers charged a crowd of protesters in Wall Street and chased them into side streets in the financial district.

About 70 persons were injured in that melee, none seriously.

Critical of Police

Lindsay was sharply critical of police failure to contain the hard-hats. The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association retorted that the police detail assigned to City Hall was inadequate because of "the inconsistent political directives imposed on police by the mayor's office."

Construction workers have taken part in a number of demonstrations since—independently or in opposition to antiwar protesters—but they have been heavily policed and there has been no major violence.

The recent upsurge of hard-hat participation in rallies appears to have been spurred by relatively uncomplicated motives—reverence for the flag, support for the government and anger over what they consider student excesses.

Those with sons, or brothers or relatives and friends killed, wounded or fighting in Vietnam feel strongly that "the boys in Vietnam" should be supported.

Tens of thousands of construction workers jammed Broadway for four blocks opposite City Hall, and the overflow crammed into side streets to a depth of about two blocks. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

U.S. War Toll Up Sharply, 77 of 217 Dead in Cambodia

SAIGON (AP) — A total of 217 Americans were killed in action in the Vietnam war last week, the U.S. Command announced today. It was a 29 per cent increase over the total of the week before and the first time the weekly death toll had exceeded 200 in nine months.

Informed sources said 77 of the 217 Americans died on Cambodian battlefields.

The death toll was the highest for the Americans since the week of Aug. 10-16, when 244 Americans were killed in action.

The summary of casualties from the allied commands also reported 553 South Vietnamese troops and 3,737 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, and 1,281 Americans and 1,470 South Vietnamese troops wounded.

Information was not immediately available on how many of these occurred in the operations in Cambodia, but the South Vietnamese command said enemy activity in Vietnam decreased 40 per cent last week. The week before, a total of 863 South Vietnamese troops had been reported killed, 35 per cent more than last week, while enemy casualties totaled 5,993 killed.

Today's summaries raised the official casualty totals for the war to 42,118 Americans killed, 278,006 Americans wounded, 639,888 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 106,845 South Vietnamese troops killed.

The U.S. Command in a separate communique said a total of 166 Americans have been killed and 677 wounded in operations in Cambodia since U.S. combat forces first crossed the border on April 29. South Vietnamese headquarters reported 591 government troops killed and 2,042 wounded in Cambodian operations, while the allies claimed 8,433 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

While only light contact was reported today on the allied fronts in Cambodia, in South Vietnam the enemy shelled 54 U.S. or South Vietnamese positions. It was the third night in a row that more than 50 bases or towns came under rocket and mortar attack in an enemy high point of activity timed to coincide with the anniversary of Ho Chi Minh's birth.

Cambodia controversy and a new charge erupts in Senate . . . Story Page 5.

Initial reports said 13 Americans and at least 12 Vietnamese were wounded, while damage over-all was described as light.

In Cambodia, across the border from South Vietnam's central highlands, thousands of South Vietnamese infantrymen who began an operation Wednesday against the last of the known enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia continued to encounter little resistance.

South Vietnamese military headquarters said there had been no significant contact reported in the operation, about 125 miles northeast of Saigon. But South Vietnamese troops reported finding the bodies of 33 Cambodian civilians whom South Vietnamese field commanders said apparently had been killed by U.S. B52 strikes, and nine civilians were reported wounded.

Another South Vietnamese force reported killing 39 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in two clashes in southeastern Cambodia and seizing more than 100 tons of arms and ammunition. Eleven South Vietnamese were reported killed and 35 wounded.

American troops uncovered several large caches in the Fishhook region of Cambodia north of Saigon and captured 75 rifles, nine trucks and tons of medical supplies.

Reds: Until Total Victory

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam and the Viet Cong said today they will fight until they achieve "total victory" over the United States in Indochina.

Hanoi and Viet Cong delegates made the declaration at the 67th session of the Vietnam peace conference.

They spoke 24 hours after Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, in a rare statement, charged U.S. policies have raised the danger of a new world war, and pledged support for the Indochinese Communists in their struggle against the United States.

North Vietnamese representative Nguyen Minh Vy said in a statement at the start of the Majestic Hotel session, "No force, no threat, no perfidious maneuver of the United States will shake the solidarity of the Vietnamese, Laotian and Cambodian peoples in their fight against their common enemy. American imperialism, until they achieve total victory at all cost to regain their basic national rights."

Dinh Ba Thi, representative of the Viet Cong's provisional revolutionary government (PRG) declared, "President Nixon's policies of escalating the war in Indochina have created an extremely grave situation. These adventurist policies have sunk the United States deeper into the quagmire in Indochina. The Indochinese peoples are determined to fight until total victory."

McCarthy—Primary Problem, Not Sen. Goodell

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"I'm sure I can beat Goodell, my problem is the primary," said Congressman Richard D. "Max" McCarthy, candidate for U.S. Senate in an interview with The Freeman Wednesday night at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

McCarthy who is in a five-way primary race for the Democratic designation to oppose incumbent Republican Charles E. Goodell in the November election, paid a surprise visit to Kingston on his way from Albany to Rockland County, part of a three-week tour of the state.

The dinner guest of Democratic County Chairman and Mrs. Aaron E. Klein, McCarthy said he feels confident he can beat Goodell because "I can cut into him upstate where I have always enjoyed Republican support.

McCarthy of Erie County, 42, who is in his third term in Congress, criticized legislators for all being "experts on Cambodia and Laos when there are problems here at home which are skipped over." McCarthy mentioned in particular pollution of the Hudson River and told of scuba diving into its waters in New York City last week and finding the situation worse than he imagined.

SEN. RICHARD McCARTHY

Asked why he enjoys Republican as well as Democrat support, the former newspaper reporter answered, "They vote for me because they trust me."

Speaking of his opponents, he pointed out that all are from the New York City metropolitan area whereas he is the lone upstater. He feels it is important that upstate interests are considered and feels it will aid his cause.

McCarthyy called one opponent, Theodore Sorenson's attack on his (McCarthy's) petitions, "unscrupulous" and "puts salt on the philosophy of New York State law which says we shall encourage the broadest possible participation in a primary."

The father of five children whose ages range from six to 12, McCarthy authored a popular book titled "The Ultimate Folly" which deals with war by pestilence, asphyxiation and defoliation. Intimately involved in pollution problems, he has long waged a fight against germ warfare.

His wife, Gail, also authored a small publication called "What To Do With Children In Washington."

Concentrating on the GOP candidate, Goodell, Sen. McCarthy called him "an ex-pedient man" saying he was at one time "an ultra-Conservative who voted against the $1.25 an hour minimum wage as well as a bill to exterminate rats and another which authorized the foods stamp program."

Now, McCarthy said, "suddenly, overnight, he has become an ultra-liberal and therefore has forfeited the trust and confidence he previously enjoyed upstate."

A graduate of Canisius college, McCarthy served overseas with both the Army and the Navy.

Saugerties Sets Rock Hearing

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES

The Town of Saugerties continued its rapid pace toward the enactment of a more stringent Local Law to control sound festivals in the wake of mass public protests, and a public hearing on the proposed new law will be held Thursday, June 4, at 8 p.m. in the town hall.

Supervisor A. Michael Schovel said Town Attorney Louis P. Francello, who was called from his vacation in the Adirondacks, was back in town and completed the new proposal to be known as Local Law No. 5. Schovel announced the date of the hearing today.

The new local law if adopted by the Town Board will have further backing by state legislation signed into law this week by Gov. Rockefeller. The bill was sponsored by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell.

Under the state law, sponsors of large assemblages similar to last year's Woodstock music and art festival at White Lake, Sullivan County, will be required to secure temporary residence permits from city or county health departments or District State Health Department authorities. The law is effective immediately and amends the Public Health Law.

Concerted action of the Town Board was generated by residents of the High Woods-Fish Creek area, who have held several meetings to discuss some course of action to avoid the problems expected to ensue from the reported series of rock festivals planned at a site on Glasco Turnpike near Shultis Corners.

The Town Board responded to the call of the citizenery for immediate action and outlined several amendments to the town's assembly law, to make it more stringent, at an adjourned meeting of the board Monday night.

The new law as proposed would require both County Health Department and town permits before an assemblage can be planned, advertised or any other preliminary arrangements made.

Wiltsie Named Councilman In Esopus

ESOPUS

Edwin S. Wiltsie of New Salem, Kingston RD, 5, was unanimously appointed to the post of councilman of the Town of Esopus Wednesday night.

Wiltsie's designation was made at a special meeting at the town hall in Port Ewen. He was nominated for the post by Lambert with Town Justice Charles Montafia seconding the nomination.

Wiltsie will serve in the position until the November election when he or anyone else seeking the post will have to run for a full two-year term, according to Emily Card, town clerk.

The new councilman is a native of Secaucus, N. J. and has lived in the Esopus area for 25 years, 22 of which he has been employed at IBM.

Quick Action Contains Blaze In Rhinebeck

RHINEBECK

Quick action of Rhinebeck Fire Department early today contained a fire in the Sawdust Trail Restaurant on Route 9, to the kitchen area, Chief Sandy Williams reported.

Chief Williams said the kitchen where the fire apparently started was badly damaged and there was minor damage upstairs when the flames burned through partitions.

A passing motorist saw smoke coming from the building just north of the intersection of Route 9G about 5:30 this morning and called in the alarm, the chief told The Freeman.

Chief Williams said there was an occupant in an upstairs bedroom that escaped before the flames reached that area but he was later identified as Charles Benson, son of the owner.

A spokesman at the scene said the kitchen would require extensive repairs before the restaurant could reopen. No estimate of the fire damage was available at this time. The owner of the restaurant is Henry Benson.

More than 50 volunteers of the Rhinebeck Company responded, the chief said. Hillside Fire Company in charge of Chief John McGuire was called to the scene to assist by Dutchess County Mutual Aid.

No Strike Threat, But . . .

Guards Picket Area Prisons

WALLKILL — As part of a statewide demonstration called to protest terms of a contract offered the union by a state bargaining team members of Wallkill Local 613 of Security Unit Employees began picketing Wednesday on roads leading to Wallkill State Prison.

Herbert L. Koeper of Borden Road, Wallkill, Local 613 president, said 27 off-duty correction officers, almost the entire off-duty force, had appeared for picketing duty at the prison entrance on Route 208 north of Walkill and on a back road leading to the prison.

Koeper said the union had been negotiating with the state since last September, principally about wages and retirement benefits. The State Legislature, on its last day, passed an amendment to the Taylor Law prohibiting negotiations on salary grade reallocations of wages. "In effect, this prohibits us from bargaining on wages at all," Koeper said.

Koeper noted that New York City prisoners are being housed at the Napanoch and Westfield correction centers and that "city correction officers there, working side-by-side with our men, are getting $3,000 a year more." State officers, who now retire on half pay after 25 years, are seeking a 20-year, half-pay retirement to match that given city officers, he said.

State correction officers now start at $7,125 and increase to $8,513 after six years' service.

Security guards at Matteawan State Hospital in Beacon picketed Wednesday to protest what they called poor wages and inadequate pension and benefit plans, and poor working conditions.

The pickets are not on strike and there has been no "official" threat of a strike, according to Dr. John Lanzkron, acting director of the hospital.

Most of the picketing outside of the state institutions is occurring in Duchess and Ulster Counties. Wage and a pension plan appeared to be the main elements of the protest. Correction officers in New York City reach a maximum pay of $11,000 a year after three years. Elsewhere, officers are eligible for a maximum wage of $9,000 after 15 years.

Carl Gray, executive director of the bargaining agent, blamed the impasse on what he termed the state's "anti-labor position regarding law enforcement officers."

Officers were also reported gathered outside Green Haven State Prison, Dutchess County, and Auburn State Prison, Cayuga County, and at Beacon State Institution, part of the Mattewan complex.

None of the institutions involved reported any disruption of services.

Chief Brennan Of Centerville Makes Report

CENTERVILLE — The monthly report of Centerville Fire District Chief Thomas Brennan Jr., revealed that the department answered a total of 12 alarms between April 14 and May 12.

They included 4 brush and woods, 1 unoccupied frame dwelling, 2 false alarms, 1 house trailer, 3 resuscitator calls and 1 vehicle fire.

Chief Brennan said that aside from the three rescue calls and the vehicle fire the other alarms could have been avoided and he urges all district residents to use extreme care, especially in regard to brush and woods fires.

Rondout School Board Supports BOCES Building Program

KYSERIKE — The Rondout Valley Board of Education has passed a motion to support the proposed BOCES (Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster County) building program at Tuesday night's board of education meeting.

BOCES is attempting to promote a building program. They are presently renting many facilities and want to coordinate all of their projects under one roof.

The superintendent of the school district has been given the authority to increase the professional staff by eight and one-half professionals and one administrative assistant to the superintendent, which would be a clerical position.

Due to an insufficient number of students taking Latin, this subject will be phased out of the language curriculum upon the recommendation of the high school. Also, because of a decrease in the high school business department, the professional staff will be reduced by one person in that department.

A 187-day school calendar was approved by the board for the 1970-71 school year. May 29 of this year has been declared a holiday by the board and schools in the district will be closed. This holiday was not included in the original calendar for this year.

Approval was granted to proceed with combined projects of stair enclosure at the Kerhonkson Elementary School; a water clarification at the Rosendale Elementary School; an exhaut vent from the agricultural shop at the high school.

The board also will appoint a dispatcher in the area of transportation.

At the termination of the executive session of the meeting, William Sass suggested that, as teacher raises comprised 55 per cent of the budget increase, that they be broken down so the public could see in fact how much money allocated for teacher raises is really spent for this purpose. He further suggested that when the Board adds money for unforeseen contingencies, that they be listed as such and not lumped under teacher salaries. The board responded that the State of New York does not allow contingency funds, so they have to be placed under other items. Sass stated that this did not seem fair to the teachers, as the public assumes all money in this category of teacher salaries is spent there, and this is obviously not the case.

The Board agreed to consider the suggestion.

Rocky Has Busy Time

Election Day Bar Option Vetoed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has rejected a bill that would give communities the option of permitting bars to remain open on election day.

"The prohibition against the sale of alcoholic beverages until after the polls have closed on election day has been a long established policy of the state," Rockefeller said Wednesday in vetoing the measure. "If that policy is to be changed, orderly administration of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Law requires that it be changed for the entire state and not in individual areas on a hit and miss basis."

The measure was one of the last to be acted upon by the governor during the 30 days allowed for bill signing after the close of the legislature.

The 30-day period ended Wednesday and bills not signed after that day are automatically vetoed — a tactic Rockefeller has never used.

The governor said he had completed action on the bills but was withholding the announcement of his decisions on 120 of them until Thursday. Of the 1,339 bills passed by the legislature, the governor's office said, Rockefeller signed 1,044 bills and vetoed 295.

Rockefeller worked on the bills throughout the 30-day period and reported his decisions periodically. In the last few days, the vetoes have far outnumbered the approvals.

On Wednesday, for example, he vetoed a bill that would prohibit surrogates or other persons from making public estate records or state tax returns.

As drafted, Rockefeller said, the bill "could prohibit divulgance of any information concerning an estate to a person with a legitimate interest in the estate and who has a right to such information for proper purposes."

He also disapproved a measure that would permit paid firemen to serve as volunteer firemen in their home communities. It could lead to a conflict of interest, he said.

Among the bills he approved were those that will:

"Create a state commission to examine the fiscal needs and the way to meet them of cultural institutions such as museums, theater groups, opera companies and orchestras.

—Rework the current system of property assessment.

—Permit welfare officials to take an abused child from his parents or guardian without a court order.

— Allow professionals — such as doctors and dentists—to incorporate to take advantage of federal tax benefits.

—Mandate the registration of trading stamp companies with the state. Stamps also could be redeemed by holders for cash from the companies.

—Require a 40-hour week for paid firemen by Jan. 1, 1974. The workweek could be reduced in various steps until that date.

—Require the phosphate content of soap to be listed on its wrapper or container. Phosphate is considered the most significant factor in causing algae in streams and lakes.

...But Administration Still Says Better Times Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dinner at home cost no more in April than in March but the price of eating out continued its way upward, the government says in a cheerless report on its battle against inflation.

"The White House, the administration, is disappointed," a spokesman said Wednesday after the Labor Department reported living costs rose at a 6 per cent annual rate last month.

The increase meant it cost $13.40 to buy the goods $13.32 would purchase in March and marked the 16th month of the worst inflation since the Korean War.

It was a sharp disappointment to President Nixon's economic advisers who have been saying prices were beginning to respond to the stiff prescription of anti-inflationary medicine they began administering early last year.

But the administration continued to predict better times ahead. "We expect this reversal to be temporary," a White House spokesman said. "The projections are that prices will begin to show a decrease."

The raw increase for the month was six-tenths of one per cent, but when the Bureau of Labor Statistics made allowance for predictable seasonal changes it shrunk to five-tenths.

Stretched out to give an annual rate, the figures show the increase would be 6 per cent if the same rate of inflation continued for 12 months. Overall, the increase was the largest since last December when the figure jumped at the same rate.

Of the unadjusted six-tenths, four-tenths was attributable to increased costs of consumer services, the Bureau said.

It added all of the increase in the food index—three-tenths of one per cent for the month and an annual rate of 7.1 per cent—came from higher prices for restaurant meals and snacks. There was no change in April for the price of groceries.

As well as the cost of eating out, gasoline and parking cost more in April.

"Prices for services associated with housing, particularly residential property taxes, mortgage interest and utilities, continued to register the most important increases," the department said.

The Consumer Price Index was only one piece of disappointing economic news Wednesday. The stock market took another plunge, with the Dow-Jones industrial average dropping 14.85 points to 676.55, the lowest since March 1963.

Pointing up concern about the ailing market, Nixon scheduled a meeting today with Bernard Lasker, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange. The meeting was requested last month, a spokesman said.

The AFL-CIO took a dismal view of the latest price increases. "It is self-evident that the administration's anti-inflation program is just not working," a spokesman for the labor federation said. "Inflation is now the worst in 2 years with the sharpest unemployment jump in 10 years."

Unemployment this month jumped to 4.8 per cent from 4.4 per cent in April. It matched the sharpest increase in a decade and meant almost 4 million people are out of work, an increase th o a m-nt4h mm ww www of 300,000 for the month.

Jamaica, Cayman Isles Raked

Hurricane Alma Heading for Castroland

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Alma, with pouring rains and slashing winds, raked Jamaica and the Cayman Islands today and headed for Cuba.

The three islands of the Cayman chain—the homes of fishermen which in recent years have begun attracting tourists seeking the rustic island life—had winds of about 40 knots, the National Hurricane Center estimated.

Jamaica, with spas that attract millions of tourist dollars a year, took the heaviest blows on its western end.

But Alma's path took her between the Caymans and Jamaica and on a course that would carry the frailing storm—with winds just barely of hurricane force at 75 miles per hour in the center—over land in Camaguey Province on the eastern end of Cuba.

Kraft said Cuba would begin to feel local winds of gale force and get heavy rains later today in the eastern and central sections of the island.

Gales in squalls extended out 200 miles to the northeast and 50 miles to the southwest of the center at dawn today.

Kraft said, however, that conditions were not favorable for strengthening of the storm today.

An Air Force pilot in a hurricane hunter plane was ordered into the storm today to check its strength.

At 6 a.m. Alma was centered near Latitude 19 North, Longitude 80 West, or about 50 to 100 miles east of Grand Cayman and 500 miles south of Miami.

Alma was moving toward the northeast at about 10 m.p.h.

Small boats across South Florida—from Palm Beach through the Keys—were advised to stay in port.

Alma is only the second Atlantic area storm in this century to reach hurricane force during the month of May. Hurricane season officially begins June 1.

Alma formed suddenly in the warm waters of the Western Caribbean — birthplace of some of this century's great hurricanes—and reached hurricane force winds of 74 m.p.h. by late Wednesday afternoon.

Carl Albert Looks Like Next Speaker

HOUSE SPEAKER McCORMACK
. . . Putting Gavel Aside

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Carl Albert, 62, a member of the House leadership for 16 years, appeared certain today to succeed Rep. John W. McCormack as speaker of the House—if the Democrats keep control of it in November.

McCormack, 78, a member of the House for 42 years and eight days away from being speaker longer than anyone in the nation's history except Sam Rayburn, announced Wednesday he will retire at the end of this term from the $72,500 a-year job.

McCormack, who worked his way up from the tenement wards of South Boston to the nation's second most powerful office, said he was retiring so he and his ailing wife could have "a period of rest and relaxation."

But he quit amid increasing criticism of his age and unresponsiveness to congressional reform and a scandal that, though not touching him personally, had reached into his office. In January his top aide, Martin Sweig, and a friend, Nathan Voloshen were indicted on charges of perjury and conspiracy to exert pressure on federal agencies.

To many of the junior members of the House, McCormack symbolized their contention that Congress is controlled by old men.

Albert picked up the personal endorsement of McCormack and the man many observers had thought was a likely prospect, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Albert was named party whip, the No. 3 position in the Democratic leadership, in 1954, and majority leader succeeding McCormack when McCormack became speaker in 1962. Although he has a liberal voting record, he has not been identified with the Democratic Study Group (DSG), the caucus of liberal Democrats in the House. Albert suffered a heart attack three years ago but apparently has recovered.

When Albert came to Congress in 1946, he was known as "the little giant for little Dixie," partly because of his short height and partly because of the district he represented in Oklahoma.

He is a former Rhodes Scholar and millions of Americans watched him on television presiding at the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

A scramble was developing to see who would succeed Albert as floor leader, the traditional stepping stone to the office of speaker.

The majority leader and whip will not be chosen until the Democrats caucus after the November election. At present, the Democrats control the House 244 to 188 with 3 vacancies.

Cambodia....A New Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate supporters of a proposed curb on U.S. activities in Cambodia have charged opponents with rewriting the dictionary in their attacks on the measure.

The proposal "is a direct affront to the President of the United States," Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., said Wednesday. "We will be telling the world that the Congress of the United States has no faith in the foreign policy of the President."

"It is a new definition of insult if taking a man at his word constitutes some insult against the man or his office," responded Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, cosponsor of the bipartisan amendment to bar funds for retaining troops in Cambodia after June 30 and limiting aid and air power.

President Nixon has pledged to remove all American ground forces from Cambodia by June 30—the cutoff date of the amendment.

The increasing bitterness of the debate was reflected earlier Wednesday when Assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, said passage of the amendment would give "aid and comfort" to the enemy.

"I feel very strongly," Griffin said, "that the Church-Cooper resolution as now worded—we do not know what changes may develop, but as it is now worded—cuts off options and ties the hands of the commander in chief where he has responsibility to make what are essential battlefield decisions.

"I know it is not the intention of the sponsors to aid the enemy; of course, it is not. But it does aid the enemy when we tie the hands of the commander-in-chief in a way that he cannot make the decisions that need to be made," he said.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, one of four cosponsors, responded by noting "the President himself tied his own hands because he is the one who said U.S. forces would not go beyond 21 miles, and he is the one who said we would be out not later than July 1, 1970."

Behind the scenes, efforts continued in search for an accommodation among supporters of the amendment, who claim majority support, the White House, Republican Leader Hugh Scott and GOP opponents of any restriction. At times, there appeared to be confusion over who spoke for whom.

Dole warned that, without an accommodation, it would take "days and days and days" for the Senate to give the issue a full airing.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., agreed, saying the issues should be discussed "for a long, long time—not just June or July."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 21, 1970

The Consumer Year

Senator Philip A. Hart, Michigan Democrat, estimates that American consumers lose $200 billion a year—that is a fifth of the gross national product, a figure we find hard to believe—through monopolistic price fixing, oil import quotas, unneeded auto repairs, auto insurance, credit insurance, worthless drugs and inability to compare the prices of similar food, toilet and household products.

Mrs. Virginia Knauer, President Nixon's Consumer Advisor, has attacked the problem by relaying consumer complaints directly to heads of large corporations. Consumerism is now heard in the board rooms of big corporations, at trade association meetings and in the offices of corporate lawyers. A number of corporations have even installed telephone "cool lines" over which consumers can call from anywhere in the continental states except Alaska to get satisfaction, without charge.

In her first year as consumer advisor, Mrs. Knauer has persuaded General Motors to recall faulty school buses and trucks and she is attempting to dissuade the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute from promoting nonreturnable bottles that add to the nation's rubbish crisis. Also, with the 100 per cent backing of President Nixon, she insisted that the fat content of hot dogs be held down to 30 per cent.

Astonishing as some of these successes are, they are far from saving the nation's consumer $200 billion, or any appreciable part of it. That job requires the work of many parts of government, from the Federal Trade Commission and the Justice Department on through many others to the office of the Consumer Advisor. But we can be glad that consumer problems are getting the attention they deserve in Mrs. Knauer's office.

From 'Sow's Ear' to Oil

The U.S. Bureau of Mines is working to perfect a method of turning garbage into oil, reports Science Service. So far, research chemists at the bureau's Coal Research Center in Pittsburgh have been able to make one barrel of crude oil from a ton of urban refuse, after objects such as bottles and cans were removed.

The oil was obtained by treating organic waste with carbon monoxide and steam at high temperature and pressure.

If the process can be made commercially feasible, it will enable us to tap a vast "new" resource. There is not, as any city-dweller knows, any shortage of garbage or carbon monoxide.

It also sounds somewhat like making a silk purse out of a sow's ear. But that is exactly what technology is going to have to do if we are to survive our own effluent affluence.

'Repression' Watered Down

In the 1930s, gentlemen were arrested for swimming in public with their chests bare.

At the peace rally in Washington, D. C., the other day young gentlemen and ladies cavorted wholly unclothed in the reflecting pool in front of the Washington Monument. Police look on benignly.

These same blithe spirits then turn around and complain that this society is becoming more and more repressive.

But to go in half a lifetime from bathing shirts for men to mixed nude bathing in the center of the national capital would seem to represent some kind of "progress."

"At Least We're Working on It!"

David Lawrence Says
Economic Condition Will Be Main Election Issue

WASHINGTON — There seems to be an assumption prevalent at the moment that the congressional election in November will have as one of its main issues the Vietnam War, and particularly the U.S. moves in Cambodia.

But a much more penetrating look at the situation would seem to indicate that, by the time election day arrives, our action in Cambodia will be out of the way, that the administration will have told "a success story," and that the end of the war and withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam may have been accelerated, as representative Gerald Ford, House Republican leader, suggested a few days ago.

What appears likely to be the real issue that will swing the most votes is whether the country will have a sound economic position or one which will produce in the minds of the people a feeling of apprehension and worry. Many an election in the past has been won or lost on the basis of economic conditions which had an impact on the voters at the time.

While the unemployed thus far total only about 4,000,000 the question is whether this number will increase to a level that would be politically uncomfortable for the administration. Already there are signs that government departments are much more concerned with what can be done about the economic problems of the country than with how the protests of youth can be answered or the Vietnam war given a better outlook.

Recently a surprising statement came from labor leaders — including George Meany, President of the AFL-CIO — indicating that they would be amenable to controls of wages, prices and profits. Many members of Congress believe that the administration might have moved sooner toward adopting such a policy. But the administration has for some time felt that wage and price controls would not provide a solution and might make matters worse.

The talk now is about "guidelines," which, of course, means that the administration would try to apply pressure on both labor unions and business management to maintain prices and wages at existing levels as far as possible. This will be even more important if the administration decides to reduce interest rates and open up various sources of credit to permit large sums to become available for housing and state and local projects.

The economic situation is becoming more sensitive every day, particularly as the stock market reflects a diminution in public confidence. There are many people who feel that the actions already taken to restrain inflation have produced a form of recession, and they do not think that these should be prolonged. The administration has the power to open up avenues of credit and give business a new stimulus.

There has been much discussion about the prospects of a big deficit in the budget. But the latest figures show that in a budget of 198 billion dollars for the current fiscal year, which was supposed to have a surplus of 1.5 billion, there may instead be a deficit of 1.8 billion. Also, for the fiscal year which ends june 30, 1971, the budget was originally planned to show a surplus of 1.3 billion and now is expected to have a deficit of 4.4 billion. The administration, however, is planning some additional taxes — including an "anti-Pollution" tax on lead gasoline — to reduce that deficit to 1.3 billion for the 1971 fiscal year. Congress is not happy about the prospect of raising taxes, but the administration believes this will tend to ease inflationary pressures and will help to hold the line on prices as well as wages.

While little is being said about it, organized labor will have to cooperate with the government in keeping down many of the wage increases that were planned. For otherwise prices would have to go up again. The administration is being urged to use "guidelines" and ask both management and labor to follow them so that wage costs will not get out of line and will be measured by the productivity of labor.

In the final analysis, whether there will be a change in the Congress and the Presidency depends upon what the economic state of the country is on election day in November 1970 and in November 1972, respectively. There may be lots of demonstrations about the Vietnam War, but these will have much less to do with election results than whether there are jobs and adequate income and a slowdown in the rise of prices to provide for a healthy economy.

American Consumption

By TOM TIEDE

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Scientists say the 205 million citizens of the United States comprise only 5.7 per cent of the world population but consume at least 40 per cent of world resources.

What does this mean? If simple mathematics are used, plus some honest generalization, all of us as Americans, each and every year, have the following astonishing effect on the earth we inhabit:

LAND — Dr. John Muench Jr. of the National Forest Poducts Association estimates that roughly five million acres of timberland are cut down (he says "harvested") annually, some of it to clear the 11,760,000,000 square feet which the federal housing administration says is used for private home construction each year; some of it to build the estimated 1,200,000 individual dwellings that rise each year; some of it to make such things as the 20 trillion pounds of paper which people wad up, toss away, burn or litter with.

WATER — According to water resource experts at the Bureau of Interior, Americans use 110 trillion gallons of water a year. This is an average of 1,600 gallons per capita daily. Industry and agriculture excluded, the yearly per capita domestic use is about 30,000 gallons. A man uses, on the average, 30 to 40 gallons for a bath, 20 to 30 gallons for washing clothes. It takes 40 gallons of water to grow the grain to produce one egg. And when all is said and done, the water becomes 18 trillion gallons of sewage.

FOOD — The Department of Agriculture says that the average U.S. individual food consumption this year will be: 161.2 pounds of meat, 11.1 pounds of commercial fish, three pounds of game fish, 39.3 pounds of chicken, 8.4 pounds of turkey, 40.1 pounds of eggs, 568 pounds of dairy products, 78.9 pounds of fresh fruit, 54.4 pounds of processed fruit, 150.3 pounds of vegetables, 117.7 pounds of potatoes, 145 pounds of grains, 121.7 pounds of sugar, 10.6 pounds of coffee, 3.1 pounds of chocolate and 1.3 pounds of spices and herbs.

ANIMALS — There are approximately 28 million fishermen and 13,600,000 hunters in the United States, according to federal wildlife statistics. In one recent count, they spent $7 billion and traveled 32 billion miles to kill 2,350,000 deer, 23,000 bear, 40 million morning doves, 8,090,000 ducks and 100,000 geese. On the commercial side of it, Agriculture experts counted 85,160,000 pigs, 35,026,000 cattle, 11,884,000 sheep (or lambs) and 5,440,300 calves killed in 1969 to feed and clothe the U.S. population.

FUELS — Brice Cecil of the American Petroleum Institute estimates that gasoline consumption this year will be over 101 billion gallons, the great part of it going into America's 87 million automobiles. Since each automobile averages 10,000 miles a year, and 13 miles per gallon of fuel, Cecil guesses that each owner will consume an average of 750 gallons of gas. This means each auto owner will cause, by driving alone, 2,400 pounds of carbon monoxide, about 150 to 325 pounds of organic vapor and 50 pounds of other air pollutants.

RUBBAGE — The U.S. Bureau of Solid Wastes guesses that Americans throw away 2,360,000,000 tons of refuse each year. This works out to over four trillion pounds, or 20,000 pounds per capita per year. If agriculture and industrial waste is omitted from the figures, individuals still dispose of six pounds each a day. This includes an annual seven million junked automobiles, eight billion pounds of plastic, and some 74 billion bottles and cans — 20 million cubic yards of it all along the nation's roadways.

At this juncture, perhaps, it should be noted that not all the foregoing figures are reasons for guilt. People must survive. Nature must yield. And in many cases, such as the cutting down of forests lands, man has organized renewal programs to minimize the possibilities of complete resources depletion.

But if only in their magnitude, the figures are cause for concern.

Jack Anderson Says
Soviet Military, Pentagon Each Blocking Armament

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's press conference prediction that there would be a Soviet-American agreement to limit strategic weapons was apparently a bit premature.

Both sides have acknowledged that an escalation of the arms race not only would make this planet a more dangerous place to live but would pile more millions upon the already oppressive financial burden of both nations. Yet the escalation is going on, inexorably, as if it were an irresistible force of nature.

At a recent diplomatic soiree in Moscow, a Soviet official passed pleasantries with an American diplomat. Suddenly, the Russian began speaking intently, nervously pressing his fingertips together. He wanted the American to know, he said, that enlightened Soviet leaders wanted a strategic arms agreement but that they were hampered by the Defense Ministry.

Variations of this scene have been repeated at least two dozen times during the past few weeks. Soviet diplomats have taken aside Americans at cocktail parties and have stopped them in corridors to whisper that the Soviet military are obstructing the SALT talks in Vienna.

Pentagon's Influence

The Americans might have responded that the Pentagon has had a similar influence upon the U.S. negotiators, who have been unable to make a proposal until it has been throughly reviewed by the brass. In the backrooms, the generals have fought every concession.

They have persuaded the President, for example, to go ahead with installing multiple warheads next month on our intercontinental missiles. Yet the deployment of multiple-headed missiles is the main question that is supposed to be settled in Vienna.

Similarly, the Soviet military have pushed ahead with the testing of multiple warheads and the installation of SS9 missiles. These monsters pack a devastating, 20-megaton wallop capable of knocking out our own hardened, underground missile sites.

At the same time that the negotiators were discussing arms control in Vienna, the Soviet Navy also conducted provocative, world-wide maneuvers under the code name, "Okean."

In the Pacific, for example, U.S. naval forces have teletyped and radioed in code a staccato of submarine sightings. The list of Russian subs, prowling the sea aortas leading from the U.S. to Vietnam has now reached 120. Of these, 35 are known to be nuclear powered and 25 are armed with 400-mile missiles.

Intelligence Report

An intelligence summary, slipped to this column, declares that the Soviet subs operate out of the Siberian ports of Vladivostok and Petropavlovsk.

"This force," states the summary, "has significant capabilities including torpedo attack, cruise missile and ballistic missiles with the ability to operate anywhere in the Pacific."

The Intelligence report also describes a Soviet surface fleet of "five cruisers, including guided missile cruisers; 25 destroyers, about half of which are guided-missile equipped; and 25 ocean escorts. Its guided-missile patrol boat force, of about 60 units, is the largest of any of the four (Soviet) fleets, and its amphibians and naval auxiliary forces are second in size only to those in the Baltic and Northern fleets, respectively."

Another intelligence report declares ominously that "the Soviets have recently placed mooring buoys" in the Philippine Sea, which has been dominated by the U.S. Fleet since Admiral Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in 1898.

Meanwhile, the negotiators in Vienna are trying desperately to stop the military spending spiral by trading off a U.S. advantage for a Soviet advantage. What the military men are doing, however, seems to counter what the negotiators are saying. Thus, the chances that President Nixon's prediction will come true are now rated less than 50-50.

Footnote: My associate Les Whitten reports from Hong Kong that U.S. naval forces in the Pacific are spread thin. He quotes Japanese authorities as saying that "a comparatively small U.S. Navy force" now calls at the giant Yokosuka naval base south of Tokyo.

Cuban Airlift Challenged

Rep. Bill Clay, D-Mo., will write President Nixon next week urging him to terminate the Cuban airlift, which brings about 1,000 refugees into this country each week.

Clay's opposition to the refugee airlift is based upon a private staff memo which charges that it "constitutes an outright subsidization of the Cuban government welfare program.

"This policy of accepting and bearing the expense of those who are either unwanted, unneeded, or uncomfortable within the confines of their country has no basis," declares the memo. "We are trying to solve the social problems of a enemy nation."

The airlift was begun by President Johnson in 1965 to offer safe, quick passage for a stream of refugees who had been trying to get out of Cuba since Fidel Castro seized control in 1959.

About 190,000 Cubans have been brought to this country by the airlift. When they arrive, a number of volunteer agencies help them to obtain transportation to the place of their choice and housing after they get there.

Most of the expense is borne by the taxpayers who spent $87 million last year on the entire refugee program. The budget request for the next fiscal year is $112 million.

Clay's staff study charges that "the refugees coming to America now are not fleeing the country in opposition to Castro on the basis of ideology. We are admitting the lame, the aged, the blind, the unemployables, as well as the able-bodied unemployed of Cuba."

The study says that 50,000 cubans are now receiving U.S. welfare and their presence in many areas creates "fierce and often bitter competition for jobs."

The officials who are running the Cuban refugee program, however, say that the program is intended only to reunite families divided by the Castro revolution. While immediate family members have priority, the officials admitted that aunts, uncles, cousins and other relatives are considered eligible to be brought here by airlift.

All refugees now come in signed up to leave Cuba before May 1, 1966. About 73,000 persons are believed to remain on the list. They are subject to reprisal and would be left at Castro's mercy if they aren't permitted to come to this country, say the officials.

War Classic, 'Street Without Joy' Is Key to Vietnam Strategy

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Sometimes a book has a powerful effect on a man. On occasion, the emotional shock of what it reports will determine the course of a war — or a campaign.

This then is the story of how, indirectly, a book made the Cambodian venture less of a gamble by insuring psychologically) that American forces committed to the attack would get out quickly — not be trapped into staying.

For if there is anything President Nixon knows, it is that battles are uncertain things. A small engagement can lead to total involvement. A battalion can bog down, be surrounded and call for help. And the resulting battles go on endlessly.

How then could Nixon risk going into Cambodia? How could he be so certain he would escape entrapment? How accept the confident assessment of his military?

The story goes back to 1961 when a reporter (and one-time French solider) Bernard Fall wrote "Street Without Joy," a book once "required" reading for American officers headed for Vietnam.

The title of Chapter 9 is End of a Task Force. It describes the death of an elite jungle-trained, battle-wise French reinforced regiment, Mobile Group 100. It was isolated and cut to pieces little by little in the back country of Vietnam.

Gen. William Westmoreland read "Street Without Joy" and studied that chapter and that campaign. And it made a deep and lasting impression.

He determined that never, while he was in a position of command or authority, would he take the chance of losing a major American unit — a battalion, a regiment, a brrigade or a division. He would never, however tempted, let a battalion get into a position from which it could not be rescued.

A number of years back, when Westmoreland was in command in Vietnam, on sound intelligence information he began a campaign in an area near the Cambodian border.

But as the operation got underway, and after major elements had been committed, the rains came ahead of schedule. The units began to bog down. The men, their trucks and their artillery were mired in water and mud. Westmoreland did not reinforce. He pulled them out quickly and abandoned the campaign. The reward for victory would have been sizable. But he would not risk the loss of a battalion.

This caution he carried through Vietnam. He carries it still.

In Cambodia today the rains are starting. In some areas they are already heavy. By the end of June they will be a threat to landbound units. It will be possible for aircraft to fly by choosing the right day and hour. Infantry can't pick the hour or day. Once in, it's tied to the mud. It would be possible — perhaps — for some troops to operate at some periods. But at one time or another they would be sitting ducks for North Vietnamese units familiar with the terrain.

Men in a position to know have told this reporter Nixon is well-aware that the fate of French Mobile Group 100 is much on Westmoreland's mind and that of Gen. Creighton Abrams.

There is reason to believe this knowledge has given the President confidence that no "reason" will suddenly be found for keeping American troops in Cambodian Communist bases after June 30.

A Softer Soviet Tone on Mideast

By LEON DENNEN
(NEA Foreign News Analyst)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (NEA) — President Nixon seems to have impressed Moscow with his warning that the United States will sell more Phantom jets to Israel if Russian military intervention in the Middle East "continues to escalate."

Since his bold decision on Cambodia, the Soviet leaders have apparently concluded that the sound and fury of some congressional and student criticism is not decisive in the conduct of American foreign policy.

They are beginning to realize that their aggressive policy in the Middle East and the Mediterranean — an area of strategic importance to NATO — will not go unchallenged.

In the view of some East European diplomats, this accounts for Moscow's new interest in the stalled four-power efforts to seek a negotiated settlement of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The propaganda war will continue, of course. The Russians are not likely to tone down their attacks on Nixon since abuse of "capitalists" is a traditional Marxist-Leninist weapon.

But despite Nixon's decision to smash Communist bases in Cambodia, Moscow did not break off the Vienna talks on the limitation of strategic weapons (SALT) — as some Cassandras in the U.S. Senate predicted.

Nor did the Russians rush to the aid of Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk who is now regarded by the Kremlin as a puppet of Red China. They became, instead, slightly more flexible in the Middle East.

To retain their hold on Egypt, the Russians must, of course, support Arab demands for Israel's total surrender. But privately Soviet diplomats are hinting they might reconsider their rejection of the "Rhode Formula" which was originally proposed by the United States.

Because Egypt's President Nasser insists that the Arabs will not negotiate directly with Israel, this formula involves the deliberate ambiguity whether the two sides are in direct diplomatic contact.

At the Rhodes negotiations in 1948-49, Israelis sat in one hotel room and the Arabs in another, with a U.N. mediator moving between them. Israel insisted this constituted "direct negotiations."

Appeal to Educators

Editor, The Freeman

On May 14th, in an interview with a Freeman reporter, a local educator gave his views on "the war." This esteemed gentleman stated that the Southeast Asian war was "Immoral, Unwarranted, and Unjustified." Also, that "the U.S. cannot impose democracy on these countries." That is, Vietnam and Cambodia. He further suggested that we ought to concentrate on racism here.

Being a traditionalist, and also (as termed by a renowned Senator) a member of "apathetic students of the 50's," I must confess that I too feel that any war is immoral. Is the war unjustified? When America was asked to honor a treaty and help defend the South Vietnamese, who requested American intervention? A people who sought democracy? Who are becoming economically strong through free enterprise? I think not. Is the war unwarranted? When Communism is taking precedent over Democracy in many areas of the world? I think not. It is a strong hope for the future if greater minds than mine would stop looking for brilliant answers to common sense problems, and concentrate on the "plague of man": Economic wars. Why do we permit them? What can we do to avoid them? Perhaps this educator and his equally brilliant undergraduates could consider these questions, that is if it wouldn't interfere with a sit in, lay in, love in, or a good or bad trip.

Why don't we concentrate on racism? Assorted scores and various colors of Americans are now fighting to defend one group of yellow men from another group of yellow men. In Biafra, one group of black men murdered another group of black men. In Northern Ireland, one group of white men murdered another group of white men. Same Race! Is it racism that causes men to hate one another? Indeed not! The true murderer — man's weaknesses: gluttony, and lust for power are the seeds of hatred. We do not love or hate a man because of his skin. It is the man himself we either fear or admire. We are all members of a race that is supposed to be higher in intellect than animals — The Human Race.

This is a relatively free country, and our racists are white and black, brown, red and yellow. Racists are disillusioned, weak, frightened little men, and pardon me if I mention His name, God help them all!

Please, Mr. Educator, honor your great profession. Guide and inspire our young to use Common Sense as a complement to Intellect. Teach them the facts of a democratic society. A form of government which allows men to "do their own thing." An erring society, because people live by its rules. "To be human is to err." Tell them that Valor and Love of Country are decent qualities. Tell them that unless our nation honors her treaties to protect smaller nations from domination, unless our nation is prepared to stand strong against Communism with all its cunning guises — we will not have to be concerned with poverty and racism, for we will no longer be able to master the destiny of our country — we'll have no free country.

Mr. Educator, help our young to become decent and useful citizens instead of a well read frightening "mob of morons," the intellectually "elite" who plan to force-govern dumb squares like me. Law abiding, tax burdened squares who are fed up with the pseudo-genius students. Up with Squares!

Thank you,
MRS. JOHN J. ROSE

"Professors Didn't Teach"

Congratualtions to Mark Stevens on his letter printed in the Daily Freeman. I found it encouraging.

Hopefully, others will do as he suggests and write letters, expressing their opinions, to the proper officials. Because many of us are dismayed by the waste of our hard-earned tax dollars, concerned by the hours wasted, angered by the burning of books and buildings and both saddened and frightened by riots leading to injury and death.

I feel young people are to be complimented for having so much interest in the world and in government. They have a right to make their thoughts known. But they should do this using democratic methods. Some proper channels are letter writing to officials, taking part in politics, voting when of age and peaceful, legal demonstrations. But when the aims are accomplished in a less than democratic way, or even illegally, harm and ill-will results, too.

I don't believe demonstrating students have the right to close colleges supported by the taxpayer, especially when there are those who want — and have a right to attend classes. And, surely, the professors have an obligation to conduct classes as usual, even if some students prefer not to attend. I consider it wrong, for instance, to close a Federal building, preventing citizens from going to work and denying others their rights as citizens. If we parents were to do some demonstrating ourselves and burned down buildings in the process, we'd end up in jail. And rightly so, for a crime would have been committed.

There's a great deal wrong with our country — but there's even more right with it. I can't believe the way to right the wrongs is to infringe upon the rights of others. Let's concentrate on improving our country in a constructive way: remembering we are still allowed these methods only because our country is free.

Sincerely,
MRS. HOWARD STAUBLE

To Present Proposals

Editor, The Freeman:

I would like to express my appreciation to all those who worked on my behalf in the recent school board election. I think I surprised many people by coming in fourth with 488 votes and by losing only to the team of Murray, VanKeuren and Cone who ran an organized and professional campaign.

I ran with the anticipation that I could, by being on the board, get it to act on the drug problem. One need only to read the local papers to see that our youth is in trouble. The users of drugs in Ellenville are not criminals, weirdos or worthless individuals. They are for the most part intelligent, likeable people who have grown up next door to you.

Even though I lost and may not carry much weight, I will prepare a list of proposals that the school can put into action and I will present it at the next possible meeting. I will explain how I believe they can be implemented, what effects they may hope to have and what resources can be used.

I am idealistic enough to hope that the board will listen, I am realistic enough to know that if it does not, I or someone like me will run again.

Sincerely,
Lee Augustine

U.C.C.C. 'Campus Unrest'

Editor, The Freeman

Last Wednesday, May 13th, I read about the Ulster County Legislature's concern about "campus unrest" at Ulster County Community College. This "concern" would seem to be an over-reaction when compared to the very critical issues facing the nation. U.C.C.C. could hardly claim any unrest whatever.

I do not know what the motives are of some of the legislators, but their "concern" is in violation of the right to dissent. The right to dissent is fundamental to a democracy. In airing their "concern", and in the statements reportedly made, the legislators are actually widening the conflict locally. As such they must bear the blame if a "radicalization" of the campus occurs.

In my opinion, the County Legislature should have commended the students and faculty of U.C.C.C. because the dissent remained within the realm of peaceful exchange of views. On the whole the U.C.C.C. administration, faculty, students and trustees ought to be applauded rather than "questioned". If Cabinet members such as Messrs. Hickel, Finch and Mitchell admit that the executive branch of our overnment was not sufficiently attuned to the aspirations of our country's youth even Mr. Nixon conceded this point — then many of the County legislators are living in yesteryear. Instead of providing the community with a moral leadership, the legislators indulge in petty politics.

This is not the time to be immersed in politics, for the issues facing a rapidly polarized nation should be the concern of all citizens, and above all the legislators. Thus, the legislators, as the democratically elected leaders, should create a climate of opinion that will be conducive to reconciliation. The legislators ought to be involved in discussing the tragic problems facing a troubled land, such as the war waged in Indo-China, racism, poverty and students slayings at home. Because of these vital issues, the legislators should mourn not only our students who have been killed but all the tragic war deaths as well.

Perhaps Mr. Harry Thayer is right to have no high regard for our County Legislature, for many of its members still have to show themselves as wise men. Many of them are not Solons but mere politicians.

Sincerely yours,
HARRY MATZEN

Catskill Town Gets an Order On Its Garbage

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said Wednesday he had obained a court judgment directing the town of Catskill to more strictly follow the state sanitary code when it disposes of its garbage.

The injunction, issued by state Supreme Court, Greene County, orders the town of Catskill to discontinue operation of a refuse disposal area on Five Miles Woods Road unless it takes steps to cover rubbish daily and otherwise control flies and rodents.

The order also halts the open burning of refuse, Lefkowitz said.

Lefkowitz, who said he acted at the request of the State Health Department, said the action was begun after the town failed to comply with directions set forth in the sanitation code.

These also include the posting of hours during which the dump would be open daily and providing for an attendant to be on hand when the area is open for public disposal of refuse, he said.

Bard Professor Speaks to Ulster Kiwanis Club

KINGSTON

Professor Peter Skiff of Bard College recently spoke to the Ulster Kiwanis Club in a formal discourse and informal session.

Professor Skiff said that students are pessimistic about the future of the country; distrustful of the machinations of the social order; earnestly believe that the government is criminal by operation, but not necessarily intent; patriotic in the extreme about American ideals; have closed minds to everything but their own culture and do not listen to spokesmen not tuned in on their social order.

Of prime concern is the conflict in Asia which the students believe should be halted by complete and immediate withdrawal of U. S. troops. Equally important is the rape of the environment which continues unabated and at fault is the military-industrial complex which is only profit oriented. The moderate students, about 80 per cent of the group, believe they can save the republic. The student does not, however, communicate well with any outside his group and he has no organized alternate program, according to Skiff.

Professor Skiff concurred with the views of both the students and the Kiwanis that an exchange of words can be beneficial and there is a necessity for more listening on all sides.

Camping Topic On May 27 at City Library

KINGSTON

Joseph La Spisa, of the New York State Department of Conservation will discuss various aspects of camping at a special program sponsored by the Kingston Area Library on Wednesday, May 27 at 8 p.m. at the library.

La Spisa, speaking on the various aspects of camping, will include information about equipment, camping techniques and facilities available, both locally and throughout the state.

Many families have discovered that buying the wrong equipment, or being unprepared for emergencies can ruin an otherwise lovely camping vacation. As Supervisor of Park Operations, La Spisa has many valuable tips for new and experienced campers. A question and answer period will also be held and the library has prepared a display of books and pamphlets on this subject which will be available to the public.

All are invited to attend this special program at the Kingston Area Library, 395 Broadway.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my wife, our mother and grandmother, Michelina Naccarato, who passed away 5 years ago today, May 21.

The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory we shall always keep,
In our home she is fondly remembered,
Sweet memories cling to her name,
Those who loved her in life sincerely
Still love her in death just the same.

Red Hook Pool Leader

RONALD E. BLACK

RED HOOK

Ronald E. Black, physical education teacher in the Red Hook school system and varsity football and wrestling coach, will head the staff of 22 lifeguards and attendants at the Recreational Park Pool this summer.

Black will assume responsibility for the facility on Memorial Day. His prime duties will be to supervise lifeguards, snack bar attendants and control room personnel. He also will implement a complete program in swimming and diving instruction and manage the swimming and diving teams in the first year of competition.

Black holds a Bachelors Degree in physical education from the University of Maryland and a Masters Degree from Syracuse University. He taught in the Montgomery County public school system in Rockville, Md., prior to joining the Red Hook school system last year. He recently obtained a swimming instructor's certificate in Poughkeepsie. He is a member of the National Archery Association; American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation; and Phi Epsilon Kappa, National Physical Education Honorary Fraternity. Black, his wife Margaret and infant son, Ronald Scott reside at 3 Beech Street, Red Hook.

Barry Dillman, assistant director, and 10 lifeguards will assist Black. Dillman was a lifeguard and diving instructor at the Rec pool during the 1969 season. He has completed his freshman year at college majoring in physical education.

The Pool Operations committee, supervised by G. Carl Pack, received more than 80 applications for employment prior to mid-April. The number of personnel was almost doubled but the work hours decreased. An indication of the Rec Pool's growing skill capability is the increase from two to five in employes holding instructor's certificates. Females will outnumber males by 13 to 9 and all personnel reside within the Red Hook School District.

Sugar Crop Below Record

A Rare Castro Admission

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro has admitted for the first time that he may not reach this year the record 10 million-ton sugar crop on which he repeatedly has staked the honor of his revolution.

Castro made the admission in a speech at a Havana welcome rally Tuesday night for the return of 11 Cuban fishermen who were kidnaped by U.S.-based exiles and later released. The broadcast speech was monitored in Miami.

The Cuban prime minister said his enemies had speculated that he was seeking an incident such as the fishermen kidnapings or recent exile guerrilla landings on which to blame sugar difficulties.

But he told cheering thousands in front of the former U.S. Embassy: "If the goal is not reached, we will have two things, a moral defeat without a doubt, and we will have to find among ourselves the blame and study with courage the causes."

Seated with Castro on a platform set up atop two trucks were the fishermen, just flown to Cuba from the Bahamas. They had been stranded on tiny William Island there after their capture in Cuban waters more than a week ago.

Alpha 66, an anti-Castro organization, held them hostage for some Alpha 66 men held captive inside Cuba, but released them after Castro spurned any exchange and the U.S. government expressed displeasure over the incident.

Castro blamed rains, equipment trouble at mills, low yield and other factors for falling behind schedule in the harvesting of his dollar-producing crop.

Castro's timetable called for 8 million tons by May 7. Havana Radio reported recently that the harvest still was short of 7.5 million.

Castro blamed the U.S. government for the capture of the fishermen, though not for the crop shortfall.

Citing U.S. campus and racial strife, Castro said: "There are already those who are talking in the United States about the possibility of a revolution."

President Nixon "reminds us of Hitler," said Castro. "When he made the decision to invade Cambodia, he did not even advise his own government."

Woman's Club Receives Recognition: State Award

DISPLAYS CERTIFICATE—President Mrs. William Ashmore proudly displays the certificate proclaiming the Women's Club of Saugerties as Fifth State Award Winner in the 1968-70 Community Improvement Program. The program is co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. With Mrs. Ashmore is Mrs. Thomas Zulick, secretary and past chairman of the Literature and music department. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Mrs. William Ashmore, president of the Woman's Club of Saugerties, announced the awarding of fifth prize to the Club in the 1968-70 Community Improvement Program (CIP). Since 1955 this self-help program has been co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation. This is the first year that the Woman's Club of Saugerties has entered the program.

The entry for the Woman's Club, as compiled by Mrs. Edward Jabs, showed a wide range of services to the community. The Public Affairs Department, with the 1968-69 chairman, Mrs. Walter Stolte, and the 1969-70 chairman, Mrs. Richard Redder, submitted the following accomplishments: demolition of the Exquisite Form Industries building on Route 9W; Christmas decoration of vacant store fronts with various local clubs participating. Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners donated to a needy family through the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center, the "Keep Saugerties Clean" poster contest, the clothing drive for the migrant workers in Ulster County, and the Senior Citizens luncheon specials.

The Literature and Music chairman for 1968-69, Mrs. Thomas Zulick, listed the following activities of her committee: construction of rhythm instruments for use in the musical therapy program of the Cerebral Palsy Center; collection of books for Vietnam servicemen and the Castle Point Veteran Hospital; conducting and compiling the health survey to determine the need for a diagnostic clinic; and presentation of the Children's Theatre free of charge to area youngsters through the cooperation of local businessmen.

Through the efforts of Ways and Means chairmen Mrs. Nicholas Pinto and Mrs. Joe Hemphill, money was raised to offer the Ruth M. Gustin Memorial Scholarship to three area girls.

These projects included a bake sale, a rummage sale, a candy sale, a stationery sale, the annual Valentine dance and raffle, and the annual luncheon and fashion show.

1968-69 Education Department chairman Mrs. Robert Moser sponsored a Children's Story Hour at the library twice a month, and UNICEF Christmas cards were sold by International Affairs chairman Mrs. Joe Hemphill. Other items reported to the CIP committee included sponsorship of Girl Scout Troops 152 and 192; and for Senior citizens: special guests at the 1968 Christmas party, invited to March 1969 and 1970 general meetings, and guests at the Children's Theater production.

CIP club projects in New York State were timely and diversified, such as: financial support for institutions and agencies; scholarships and camperships; senior citizen and youth activities; crime control and emergency philanthropy; cultural affairs; health drives; landmark matters; parks and mini-parks; commodity councils; recreation area development, etc.

State-wide Contest

For the first time ever, all clubs in the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs entered and formally reported their work in the Community Improvement Program. Every Club report was carefully pre-screened and judged. The pre-screening committee, picked from other volunteer-oriented groups included: Major Margaret Abram (Salvation Army); Edith C. Ialeggio (TV Channel 21) and Alva White (American Association of University Women). The distinguished judge's panel was made up of the following: Dr. Leonard Brickman (Hofstra University), Janet Gates (Church Women United, National Office), and Charles C. Morrison Jr. (State Natural Beauty Commission).

The following New York State finalists were selected: first prize ($300) to the Woman's Club of Rochester; second, ($200) to the Junior Woman's Club of Corning; third, ($100) Women's Club of Unadilla; fourth prize ($50) to the Brockport Junior Woman's Club; and fifth prize, ($50) to the Woman's Club of Saugerties. The Rochester and Corning entries were sent to Washington, D.C., to represent New York in the national judging.

At the 76th Annual Convention of the New York State Federation of Woman's Clubs in Ellenville, Leo K. McCormack, regional director of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, made the presentation of checks to the winning clubs. Honorable Mention Trophies were given to the Amityville Women's Club, the Chemung Valley Junior Women's Club, the Floral Park Woman's Club the Middle Country Junior Woman's Club, and the Junior Woman's Club of Peekskill.

Because of the NYSFWC 100% CIP participation, an additional award of $500 was made to the State president, Mrs. Walter W. Church, at the GFWC Convention in San Antonio, Texas. All world-wide CIP awards, totaling more than $100,000 biennially, must be used for further community improvement, thus compounding their value.

Members of the New York State CIP Team for 1968-70 were Mrs. William Hausner of Lake Ronkonkoma, for Junior Clubs; Mrs. Donald Russell of Plainview, vice-chairman, and Mrs. Herbert A. Trebing of Flushing, chairman.

Wins Title Role of 'Oliver'

GRETCHEN MOORE

HYDE PARK

Gretchen Moore of Hyde Park, a diminutive 11-year-old blonde with a bubbling personality and former resident of Woodland Acres, Town of Saugerties has displayed enough talent to be named for the lead in Young Oliver.

The musical to be staged by Estelle and Alfonso at Poughkeepsie High School 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday has cast this pretty girl in the lead role usually portrayed by a boy.

Gretchen was chosen for the part by James Britt, director after auditions of many boys in her class.

Upon her selection, she was told that she would have to have a boy's haircut for the part and she agreed.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore of Robin Lane and a sixth grader at Netherwood School.

The aspiring young actress has shown early signs of acting, singing and dancing ability. A few years ago she appeared in the lead role as the princess in a play staged at Bright's summer camp at Blue Mountain.

Also featured in the production will be nine-year-old Jill Snow, daughter of the Stanley Snows of Lake Katrine. The pigtailed talented Jill was the winner of last summer's Dutchess County Fair Talent Search and she appeared this winter in The Christmas Story, presented in Saugerties and Poughkeepsie. Jill attends fourth grade in Lake Katrine School.

The musical presentation will benefit the Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company.

Birthdays Celebrated

Another birthday was celebrated by Myrtle Von Helmolt, RN, now retired supervisor of Ross Pavilion at Hudson River State Hospital. She resides at 10 Foster Street, Poughkeepsie with her husband Arthur and daughter. Her sister, Pauline M. Phillips, is also a registered nurse.

Many a drunk driver will go out of his way for you.

It's not hard to see how each year, problem drinkers are involved in killing at least 25,000 of us on our highways. When people lose control drinking, they often lose control driving.

But what is hard to see is why we keep letting them. Many problem drinkers need to be helped. But first, they need to be taken off the road. Sooner or later, it has to happen. Make it sooner. To find out what you can do, write the National Safety Council, Dept. A, 425 N. Michigan, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

College officials who participated in the program included Dr. Frederick P. Sample, president of the college; Dr. Carl Y. Ehrhart, vice president and dean of the College; Dr. Earl R. Clean Garage Floor

Here's the easiest way to clean a garage floor after everything has been taken out or rearranged on shelves and hooks. Use a heavy-duty short-bristled broom and plenty of detergent and water. Scrub thoroughly working from back to front. Hose down only after scrubbing. Otherwise, the dust and dirt will congeal into muddy puddles.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is my money saving hint from the owners of king-sized beds . . .

Buy queen-sized top sheets! They work just as well with less (but enough) hangover and they are usually several dollars less expensive than the king-sized sheet.

Mrs. D. Black

• • •

Dear Heloise:

To avoid having your wallet stolen from your handbag when in crowded buses and other crowds, use a handbag with double handles—one handle on each side of the purse.

Since this type of purse does not open very wide, it makes it difficult for a would-be thief to get his hand into it.

Also, keep only about two dollars in your wallet. The balance of your money and cards should be kept in envelopes. Easy for you to get at, and it may fool the thief!

A Reader

Dear Heloise:

My little niece is two and cannot hold a glass very well, so my mother saves the small cans that Vienna sausages are in to give her to drink from.

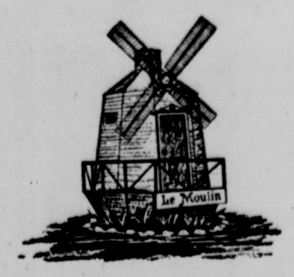

There is no sharp metal edge to cut her mouth since the top of the can pulls off without a can opener. Too, she can drop these all she wants and they won't break. Easy to wash since the inside is plastic-coated, too.

We find them great little glass and mess savers.

Santoroski Radiothon For Funds

KINGSTON

The war that killed Michael Santoroski is still going on, but the courage and conviction expressed by him is continuing to stimulate a program to give youn men and women a fuller and richer life.

It was on September 6, 1967 that young Michael Santoroski was injured by the explosion of a boobytrap mine. As a result, both of his legs were amputated below the knee. In spite of this, just four days later, Santoroski expressed extreme courage and valor for his future, in a letter to his parents in Kingston.

On Sept. 26, Pfc Santoroski was dead, but the words in his letter lived on . . . "I'm going to be allright, except that they had to cut both of my lower legs off. Mom, please have courage. It's hard for me and you can make it easier, if you're strong"

As a result of his death, and the deaths of all the young men of the Hudson Valley, who gave up their lives in Vietnam, and inspired by his courage, the Pfc Michael Santoroski Memorial Scholarship Fund was born.

A Board of Directors to administer the fund was created and the members of that original board were: Dr. George Erbstein, president of Ulster County Community College as president; Lawrence A. Quilty of Kingston, chairman; Mrs. Frank Matthews, secretary; Charles Green, Paul Jordan, George Heppner and Harry Thayer. H. Clark Bell served as attorney and Robert B. O'Reilly as accountant.

On Tuesday, Oct. 3, 1967, just a week following Santoroski's death, Radio Station WGHQ in Kingston, sponsor of the fund, held a radiothon from dawn to midnight to raise money for the scholarships. The scholarships, to be awared to young men and women in Ulster, Dutchess and Green Counties, would honor Santoroski and all the young Americans from those counties who lost their lives in Vietnam.

On that day, the telehton raised about $7,000. Volunteers worked for more than 18 hours as money poured in from all communities in the three county area. Within days, the fund realized a total of more than $10,000 including a $500 check from Governor Nelson Rockefeller. The Kingston Trust Company volunteered to act as trustee of the fund.

And so, from a letter, and the ideals expressed from a son to his mother, a working memorial was begun. The scholarship recipients are announced every Memorial Day at pre-parade ceremonies on Academy Green in Kingston.

This year's recipient will be announced next week.

Recently it was announced that the board of directors of the Scholarship Fund desired to raise additional monies. The decision was made so that the scholarship amount could be increased, constituting a significant contribution towards the cost of higher education for the recipient. It is anticipated that the amount of each scholarship award would be spread over the period of time that the recipient attends college, not just the first year. As in the case of so many scholarships, the award is sufficient to enable completion of the first year of college, but there is not enough money to ease the cost of higher education for the succeeding years.

Another radiothon will be held on Monday.

WGHQ will donate its facilities for the greater part of the day from noon. Contributions may be phoned or brought into the station at 82 John Street in Kingston. Contributions may be mailed to the Santoroski Memorial Fund, UPO Box 187 in Kingston. It is hoped that enough money will be raised to increase the scope of the scholarperpetuation. All of your contributions will serve to continue this living memorial to Mike Santoroski and all of his comrades in arms.

Following is a copy of the original letter from Michael to his mother.

10 September 67

Dear Mom,

By now you know I was wounded. I know you're crying and I have to make it worse on you. You see I'm going to be all right except that they had to cut both of my lower legs off.

Mom please have courage. It's hard for me and you can make it easier if you're strong.

In a few days I'll be going to Tokyo, Japan, where they're going to work on my legs. Then I'll be shipped to Walter Reed Army Hospital, in Washington, where I'll get a set of plastic legs. Once I get used to them I'll be able to walk, drive, and carry on a normal life.

I've received my purple heart and a citation and believe me Mom, I'm proud.

God had this planned for me: I accept it for I have my whole life ahead of me and I'm determined not to let this get me down.

I'll write in a few days to keep you posted. Letters from you would take too long to receive.

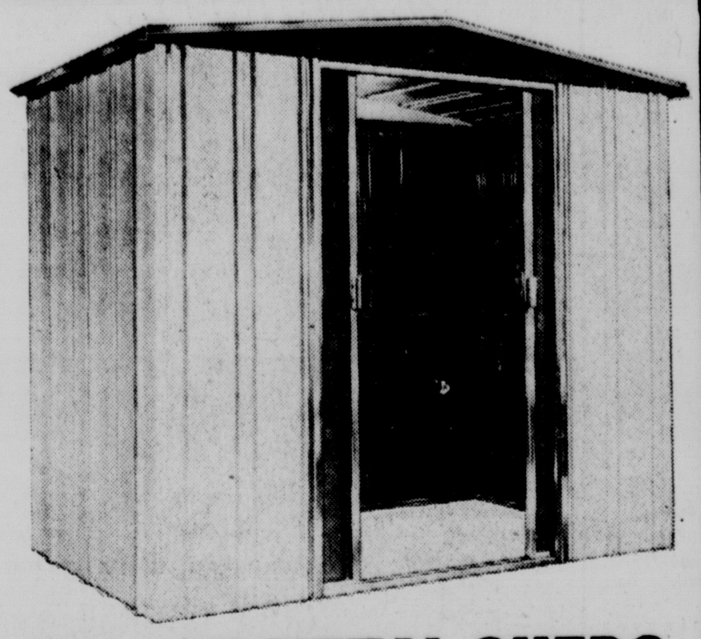

Be brave as I am,
Mike

Phone Company Announces Plans

Expansion of Local Calling Areas

KINGSTON The New York Telephone Company announced plans for expansion of local calling areas in the Mid-Hudson Region in October.

With the new phone service, residents will have a choice of a flat rate or message rate plan to fit individual calling needs. No action is necessary if a person desires the flat rate plan.

The Flat Rate Plan replaces the present flat rate service that is now provided in New Paltz to all residence customers and many business customers. With this plan, customers will be able to call as often as desired, talk as long as desired to more people in more towns. The basic monthly charge covers all calls to the expanded local calling area.

The Message Rate Plan is available to individual (private) line customers as an option. Monthly charges are based on the number of calls made, their duration and the distances involved.

With the introduction of the new flat rate plan customers will no longer have to pay toll charges to reach many points. The basic monthly charge will give customers unlimited, untimed calling throughout New Paltz's enlarged calling area. Toll charges for Beacon, Clinton Corners, Esopus, High Falls, Highland, Hopewell Junction, Hyde Park, Kerhonkson, Kingston, Marlboro, Milton, Newburgh, Pleasant Valley, Poughkeepsie, Rhinebeck, Rosendale, Staatsburg and Wappingers Falls will be eliminated. Calls to points outside the local area will continue to be billed at toll rates. The charge for this service is based on the number of phones that can be called without extra charge and the distribution of these phones. The New Paltz local calling area now includes about 7,800 telephones and under the new plan, this would increase to 164,900 phones.

For residence service, the increase in the monthly rate (plus tax) for an individual (private) line would be $2.55; for two party line, $2.01; for a four party line, $1.73; and a rural (party) line, $1.73. For business service, increase in monthly rate plus tax for an individual (private) line would be $10.71; the two party line is no longer available; rural (party) line (offered only outside the base rate area), $2.28; and PBX Trunk, $16.07.

The message rate plan is available as an option. If a customer uses the phone primarily to receive calls, while placing only a few local calls a week—message rate meets these needs. The plan is designed for individual (private) line customers.

Message units are applied to calls anywhere within your local calling area. A message unit is not a call; it is a measurement of telephone usage. The number of message units charged depends on where you call in your local calling area and the length of the conversation. Two kinds of message rate service will be available—regular and basic budget.

Expanded Area Service was proposed for the Mid-Hudson Region in 1967 in response to the region's widening communities of interest. The proposal was discussed in detail at public hearings and approved by the New York State Public Service Commission in April, 1969.

New York Telephone is constructing about $8 million worth of additional facilities to expand local calling. The improved service will help the development of the Mid-Hudson Region through broadened communications. It will also result in the elimination of toll charges on calls that now cost Mid-Hudson telephone users about $2 million a year.

ESSAY WINNER—Paul Sullivan (l) president of the Kingston Plaza Merchants Association, Inc., presents Scott Schallenkamp of Clinton Avenue, a new Columbia Sting Ray bicycle, which he won in conjunction with the recent Why My Mother is the Best contest sponsored by the association. Also pictured is the winning mother, Mrs. Schallenkamp, who was the recipient of a beautiful corsage and a dinner for her and the family at Skytop Restaurant.

POUGHKEEPSIE Students from Newburgh, Wallkill and Wappingers were the top winners in the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation's annual kitchen planning, lamp building and model home design contests.

On display in the South Road auditorium were 42 kitchens, 27 lamps and 19 model homes, the finalists from approximately 3,000 entries submitted for local judging at the participating schools. This marked the 20th year in which the utility sponsored the lamp contest, the 15th for the kitchen planning event and sixth year for home design competition.

Speakers will be Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and Dr. Richard Glazer of Ulster County Community College. The topic will be Pollution: Government and Industry.

Booster Club To Assist On Scholarships

BOICEVILLE

The annual commencement exercises at the Onteora Central High School is not far off. The number of graduating students who will be attending schools of higher education continues to increase.

Over the past few years a scholarship program has assisted many deserving graduates in their quest for more knowledge. This year the Onteora Booster Club is assisting interested area citizens in their annual fund-raising campaign for scholarship money.

A very dedicated committee, organized by Mrs. Tanya Smith and Mrs. Grace Janitz, has mailed numerous letters requesting financial support, to area residents. These residents have been generous in their support of this campaign. It is understood that there are many residents who were not on the original mailing list but who would like to share in this most worthwhile effort. For those who did not receive a letter concerning this program the opportunity to participate in the fund drive is still open. Please send your contribution to John E. Stefano, principal, Onteora Central High School, Boiceville 12412. It would be appreciated if you would include your name and address. Please make all checks payable to the Onteora Central Schools.

Any support to this program would be greatly appreciated, Stefano said.

Youth Center Group Slates Car Wash, Sale

WOODSTOCK

A double-header fund raising event by and for the Woodstock Youth Center is slated this Saturday.

Teenagers from the Youth Center will man a car wash and offer a bake sale to help raise money needed for the operation of their recreational facility in the Town Hall of the art colony.

Richard Mellert, adult director of the center, has announced that the car wash will be held Saturday, beginning at 10 a. m. A crew of boys and girls will be on hand during the morning and afternon to give cars a thorough washing outside and a vacuum cleaning inside. The car wash, with the cooperation of Woodstock Fire Department, will be held in the firehouse on Tinker Street next to the Town Hall. With such large quarters available, teenagers will be able to handle as many as eight cars at a time on an assembly line basis.

The complete wash and vacuum cleaning will cost only $1, and all those interested in helping the Youth Center in its fund raising campaign are invited to drive in.

The companion bake sale will also begin at 10 o'clock Saturday morning; will be held in front of the News Shop on the Village Green. Table space for displaying and selling cakes, cookies, pies, cupcakes and other home baked goods has been made available by the shop, and the sale will last as long as the oven products of teenagers themselves and their mothers can meet the demand.

Dems to Meet

Woodstock Democratic Club has announced that its regular May meeting in Deanie's 8 o'clock tonight, will have Alex Nirenberg as speaker. Nirenberg, contending for election as Ulster County district attorney on the Democratic ticket, presently practices law, having his office in Ellenville.

Saugerties Area News

Spring Concert Slated Sunday

SAUGERTIES

Saugerties Junior High School Music Department will present a spring concert Sunday at 3:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The concert will feature the Junior High Choir, the Seventh Grade Chorus, the Junior High Orchestra and the Junior High School Band.

The Seventh Grade Chorus and the Junior High Choir will present works by Randal Thompson, Morley, Acquarius from Hair, and several folksongs. The choruses are under the direction of David Moulton. Moulton has a bachelors degree from Bard College and a master's degree from the Julliard School of Music.

The Junior High School Orchestra under the direction of William Wollowitz will play selections by Bach, Beethoven and McKay. Wollowitz holds a bachelors degree from the Hartt School of Music of the University of Hartford.

The Junior High School Band is under the direction of Robert H. Palmatier and will play compositions by Bach, Morrissey, Grundman and an arrangement of Scarborough Fair. Palmatier is music coordinator of the Saugerties Schools and has a bachelor of music degree from the Eastman School of Music.

The public is invited to attend this concert and there will be no admission charge.

Other Items in Teachers Pact

SAUGERTIES

In the ratification of the contract with the teachers announced Wednesday several other points of agreement were outlined by Saugerties Board of Education.

The board agreed to maintain class sizes within certain limits wherever feasible.

One paragraph was added which resolved the situation, "Whenever the above goals cannot be met, the Board of Education agrees to issue a written statement informing the Saugerties Teachers Association of its reasons and the principal of the school involved will notify the teacher concerned".

The contract also states that the district will request that the New York Telephone Company install public pay phones in the faculty lounges, and provides that extended leave requests, with or without pay, will be considered upon application. The annual health examination of teachers was dropped and will only be required when the teacher is originally hired, upon election to tenure, and at other times in the interests of the health, well-being and instruction of children.

Salary provisions grant a teacher with a bachelor's degree and 15 years of experience a salary of $12,696, a maximum salary for a teacher with a master's degree of $15,021, and a teacher with a doctoral degree a maximum of $16,399. In each of these three cases, a teacher may receive an additional $1,050 for 60 semester hours of approved graduate study credit.

A request from the Ulster County BOCES for support for further study of the proposed building program was approved.

School Attorney Morris Rosenblum reported that the injunction initiated by Peter Ford for reinstatement as a teacher had been denied on all counts by the United States District Court. Litigation regarding Mr. Ford's charges that he had been denied freedom of speech is still in abeyance.

Request of teachers in the Morse, Mt. Marion, and Main Street schools to close school for one day prior to the end of the school year to work on pupil records, test information, and planning was denied.

A new summer school salary was approved, paying $7.50 per hour for a first year summer school teacher, and $8.00 and $8.50 per hour for a summer school teacher with previous Saugerties summer school teaching experience.

Resignations were accepted from the following: Miss Karen J. Kankelborg, Senior High School English teacher, effective June 30; Mrs. Patricia Ricks, head cook at the High School, effective June 1; and Mrs. Mary Bolinder, typist, Administration Building, effective June 30.

Upon recommendation of the superintendent, the following appointments were made:

Mrs. Virginia Franks, who earned her BA at SUNY, Albany, comes to Saugerties with seven years of previous teaching experience, all in New York State. A resident of West Hurley, she has completed graduate study at Albany and Adelphi University, and plans to continue her studies at SUC, New Paltz. Mrs. Franks will teach English in the Junior High School during the 70-71 school year.

Also coming to the Junior High for next year will be Miss Laurel Haines of Catskill. Miss Haines will earn her BA degree at Hope College in June and will teach social studies.

Mrs. Barbara Newman, a resident of Kingston, will teach in the elementary schools next year and comes to Saugerties with a BS Degree in education, earned at Rhode Island College, and two years of teaching experience in Milton.

Miss Rose Ann Seither will also join the Saugerties faculty for 70-71, as an elementary teacher. Miss Seither, a graduate of Saugerties High School, and SUC, Cortland, is a resident of the district.

Mrs. Freida Slayton will teach Senior High School English next year. She is presently a resident of New York City, earned her BA degree at Hunter College and has completed graduate courses at Hunter, also. Mrs. Slayton comes to Saugerties with seven years of teaching experience.

Miss Carol Webster, who will earn her BA degree at SUC, Potsdam, in June, will teach Junior High School English this coming year, and Mrs. Susan Rockhold of Kingston will join the Senior High School English Department. Mrs. Rockhold earned her BA degree at Purdue University in January of this year and is presently on the substitute list.

Joining Saugerties' music department is Arthur Biscoglio of New Paltz, who is completing his bachelor's degree work at SUC, New Paltz, will instruct elementary youngsters in instrumental music.

Miss Peggy Crozier, a resident of Greenwich, will earn her BS degree in elementary education at SUC, Oswego, and will teach kindergarten during 70-71.

Ronald Buzon comes to Saugerties with a BS Degree in physical education from Indiana University, and will teach physical education in the Junior High School. Buzon is a resident of Middleburgh.

Hired as part-time cleaners to work as needed were Stephen Moore, Eugene Legg and Eli Shapiro.

Nursery School Open House Slated

SAUGERTIES

The Community Nursery School is now accepting registrations for the school year beginning in September 1970. Open House will be held at the school during the week of May 25 to May 28, from 10 to 11 a. m. to enable interested parents to observe the school operation.

Parents are invited to bring their pre-schoolers with them.

Tuesday evening, the school will hold open house for those parents who can not attend during the day. The Board of Directors will be present to answer any questions and to receive registrations. Refreshments will be served.

The Community Nursery School is a non-profit, non sectarian Nursery School for children three to five years of age. The Nursery School opened in 1966 when the need for a Nursery School in Saugerties was apparent. The Reformed Church of Saugerties sponsors the school and the facilities of the church are used. The school meets in the Dutch Arms Chapel on John Street.

The school is equipped with a large, fenced in yard complete with swings, slides, sandboxes, see-saw and climbing equipment. The school is operated on a participating basis, with mothers assisting the teacher once every two weeks. Being non-profit, the tuition rates are kept as low as possible in order to permit the greatest number of children to have this experience.

A child must be three years of age by September 1 of the school year. The proper immunizations for the child must be completed before the school year begins. School meets from 9 to 11:30 a. m., five days a week and follows the school calendar of the Saugerties Central School System. Enrollment is limited to 20 pupils per class.

The Board of Directors for the Community Nursery School consists of Miss May Evans, chairman; Charles E. Fous, vice chairman, Mrs. George A. Turner Jr., secretary-trasurer.

Also Mrs. Samuel Adams, Mrs. LeRoy Donaldson, Mrs. Joseph Hemphill, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, Mrs. James Richards, Mrs. Duane Fritz, Mrs. William Rooney, Mrs. Judith Hamann RN, Ronald Willing and Mrs. Michael Fagan.

Further information is available by calling the church.

Camp Reunion At 'Y' Friday

KINGSTON

A Camp Wawayanda Reunion for old and new campers with their parents will be held at the YMCA on Broadway, Friday, May 22, starting at 7:30 p.m.

D. Halbe Brown, director of the Wawayanda Camps for boys and girls will show slides of camp activities and answer questions about the camp programs. All who are interested are invited to attend.

Camp Wawayanda, established in 1901, is situated in the heart of 400,000 acres of Catskill Forest Preserve, only a two to three hour drive from central and northern New Jersey communities.

Wawayanda has located separate resident camps for boys and girls, each having its own dining hall and cabins. A cabin houses eight campers, two staff members, and is equipped with complete bathroom facilities (hot showers, sinks, flush toilets, etc.), electricity, heating unit and ample clothing space.

This summer Camp Wawayanda is offering any boy or girl eight through 16 years of age a one week resident camping experience from June 28 to July 4. The primary purpose of this one week period is to give those who are new to resident camping an introductory experience. This initial period will be followed by four two week periods: Period 2 (July 5-July 18), period 3 (July 19-August 1), period 4 (August 2-August 15) and period 5 (August 16-August 29). Periods 2 and 3 are closed, with a waiting list. These four two-week periods are for boys and girls who have completed third grade and are nine through sixteen years of age. Information is available at the YMCA.

Market Dips To Its Lowest Since March '63

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market plunged to its lowest level in more than seven years Wednesday, causing prices to suffer their second largest loss of the year.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials plummeted 14.85 points to 676.55. It was the average's lowest level since March 15, 1963, when the blue-chip indicator stood at 676.33.

The previous closing low for this year was established last Thusday when the average sank to 684.79.

The Associated Press 60-stock average skidded 5.2 to 238.1, its lowest level since Nov. 26, 1962 when the average was at 237.6.

Analysts blamed the sharp decline on the deterioration of already low investor morale. They said news Wednesday that consumer prices rose in April at an even faster pace than in March added to investor pessimism.

Midland Dividend

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Directors of Marine Midland Banks Inc., a statewide holding company declared a regular quarterly dividend Wednesday of 40 cents per share of common stock payable July 1 to shareholders of record June 5.

Nirenberg Raps 'Bosses' in Republican Party

ELLENVILLE

"The act of the political bosses of the Republican Party to knock me off the voting machine has failed," said Alex J. Nirenberg, candidate for Ulster County District Attorney today.

"I will definitely be running on the Democratic line and the question about the Liberal Party's nomination remains open to the court's interpretation.

Nirenberg's Liberal Party petitions were challenged last week by Clarence Anderson, secretary of the Ulster County Republican Committee.

"The acts of the political bosses that now control the Ulster County Republican Party has clearly brought to the surface their desperation and fear that the party is over with their politically - controlled district attorney's office which is now bankrupt as well as lazy," he said. "It has reached a point where it only serves the bidding of their political bosses and completely ignores the needs of the people.

"These political bosses are fully aware of the many Republicans and Conservatives who have already bolted their party line to actively work in my campaign as I have begun to unfold the frightening and horrifying record compiled by the DA's office and my opponent who is admittedly responsible for most of it.

"These political machine bosses are acting in panic by trying to deprive the voters of Ulster County of their right to vote for me. They have failed. They fear that additional thousands of Republican voters who want a fighting district attorney for a change will join and support my candidacy.

"Their fears are well founded. The facts have proven this."

American GIs, South Koreans In Seoul Clash

SEOUL (UPI)—Rock-hurling South Korean residents clashed with American GIs for about five hours Wednesday night at the frontline village of Champagi some 25 miles north of Seoul, police said today.

Two Negro soldiers assaulted a South Korean farmer, a police spokesman said. The farmer suffered four broken teeth.

About 15 South Korean residents surrounded the attackers, the spokesman said.

When a policeman tried to arrest the GIs about 50 other U.S. soldiers intercepted and helped them escape in a U.S. Army truck, according to the spokesman.

The crowd grew to hundreds and began throwing things, the spokesman added.

Words of Reason — First of a Series

An Appeal To Americans Who Fear For Their Country

7 FACTS ABOUT THE WAR

1. It Violates the Constitution.

Article I, Section 8, gives Congress alone the power to declare war. This is intended to keep the President's powers as Commander-in-Chief of the Armed Forces within the reins of the people's elected representatives.

President Nixon invaded Cambodia without the knowledge or consent of Congress. He is the first President in U.S. history to order American forces to invade another nation on his own, without seeking congressional approval or support.

2. It Is a Blood Bath.

Since January 1961 more than 42,000 U.S. troops have died in Vietnam. Some 275,000 others have been hospitalized. About a third of the injuries are considered severe, total or deforming.

Half of all U.S. dead are under age 21.

Over 1,200,000 civilians have been killed. The number took a sharp rise with U.S. bombing of civilian targets.

3. It Is Shattering Our Economy.

Over $30 billion a year—some $90 million a day—is spent directly on the Vietnam War. This is more than for all domestic health, education, conservation and housing programs combined. It is some 24% of the entire Federal budget, and is a major contributor to inflation.

4. It Is Tearing the Country Apart.

The issue of the war is deepening the division between every social and economic group. Millions have lost faith in the government and wonder if America has a future. Students are killed. Repression, riots, brutality scar every day.

5. It Dishonors America.

We support a dictatorship scarcely better than the one we are fighting. The Saigon government is kept in power only by police-state methods and our armed presence.

6. It Has Been a Mistake.

No interest vital to our own defense was ever at stake. Each escalation—from Eisenhower's 685 advisers to Johnson's force of 549,000—was based on erroneous predictions that a few more troops would win the war. Would those first G.I.s have been sent if anyone could see what would happen?

7. It Can't Be Won.

Unless we use nuclear weapons—which would invite retaliation and lead to World War III—we cannot defeat Hanoi. Military victory is a dangerous illusion. It can only prolong this war, already the longest in our history.

3 THINGS YOU CAN DO

1. Support "The Amendment to Stop the War"

The McGovern-Hatfield Resolution would force a declaration of war or complete withdrawal from Cambodia within 30 days after its passage. It would also require the withdrawal of all American forces from Vietnam by June 30, 1971, unless there is a declaration of war by Congress.

Pine Bush Repeat Champion in UCAL Track

By MORT LAFFIN

NEW PALTZ

Pine Bush High School's track team won its' second straight Ulster County Athletic League championship yesterday at the New Paltz State College oval. The Bushmen scored a total of 96 points to capture first place in one of the closest meets in recent years. Marlboro and second at 86½.

By virtue of yesterday's win and a 6-0 record in dual events, the Bushmen took the County championship, 12-0. Marlboro, with its second place finish and, New Paltz, taking third with a total of 71½ points, tied for second place overall with eight points, Onteora, posting 79½ points in the UCAL meet finished the season with a total of seven.

The leaders are followed by Rondout 65 points-3; Highland 37½-3; Wallkill 29-2.

New Paltz took an early lead in the points and had a chance to take it all as they led 33-30. However, during the two-mile event, things began to happen and Pine Bush pulled ahead by virtue of a two-three finish in that gruelling event.

Aaron Randall of Rondout was the winner of the two-mile, turning in a suberb time of 10:33.7. A junior, Randall ran one of the smartest races of the day as he lapped at least three other runners to cross the line with the victory.

Sophomore George Shorter and Junior Dario Diaz finished two-three for the champs, while Guy Wellington took sixth for New Paltz. As a result, the Bushmen were ahead to stay.

No meet records were broken, but three school marks bit the dust as John Crawford of Highland ran an outstanding mile in 4:40.5, breaking the old record of 4:45. Bob Heinsman of Wallkill hit 41' 8½" in the triple jump and Bruce Pedersen of New Paltz set a school record in the 440 at 54.6.

Dave Snyder of Onteora and Dick Sears, Highland, were the only double winners of the day. Snyder won the 100-yard dash in 10.3 and the 220 in 23.7, nipping Rondout's Griff Grahame at the wire both times.

Sears, last year's shot put winner at 43'11", took both the shot and the discus. Sears put the shot 47'2½" and hurled the discuss 125' 3". The Highland strong boy is a three-letter man in football, basketball and track.

Winning coach John Shaughnessy was a happy man after the day's events, although the closeness of the scores had him worrried for a while.

"This has to be the longest day I have ever put in," he said. The boys kept me waiting a long time before we iced it. I think that the closeness of the scores shows the fine coaching we have in the UCAL as many of the other mentors have brought their boys along, keying for this affair. Diaz really surprised me with his third place finish in the two-mile. I didn't expect him to do as well as that. That was the turning point for us," concluded the coach.

Tennis Nod for Maroon

ALBANY

Kingston High School's red hot tennis team prepared for its DUSO League showdown with Middletown High today, by surprising homestanding Albany Academy Wednesday, 4-3.

Coach John Hunter's streaking Maroons, tied for first place at 3-1 with the Middies in the DUSO League, were scheduled to face their arch rivals starting at 3:45 p.m. at Forsyth Park.

Kingston is now 10-1 overall, Middletown 13-1. Kingston snapped at 80-match winning streak for the Middies earlier this season, so today's match will decide the 1970 crown. The Maroon's only setback came at the hands of Newburgh Academy but was amply avenged later.

It took back-to-back victories in the doubles events for the Maroons pull this one out against one of the strongest teams in the Tri-City area, as the hosts took a 3-2 edge in the singles.

The Boyd brothers — Pete and Jim — who are as effective as the Dodge boys these days, teamed up to take Chris Wong and Lew Muhfelder, 6-2, 6-2, while Jim Corsones and Peter Fowler won over Marty Silver and Tom David, 6-1, 6-3.

In singles, Pete Boyd had a tough time with Wong, coming on to the long end in a rugged three-set match, 6-0, 5-7, 6-2. Brother Jim had even a little more trouble, losing to Muhfelder, 3-6, 3-6.

Jim Corsones defeated Silver, 8-6, 6-0, but Pete Fowler dropped a 5-7, 3-6 decision to Jim Prescott and Rob Kline lost to David, 6-4, 1-6, 4-6 to set the stage for the doubles showdown.

Ganders Top Bush

STONY FORD

Rondout Valley golfers toppled Pine Bush, 8-4, over the par-36 Stony Ford links to maintain a perfect 4-0 record in Ulster County Athletic League competition. The Ganders are 7-3-1 overall.

Ed Lawrence posted a 44 to defeat Jim McIntyre (45), 2½ to ½ in the No. 1 singles. Jack O'Brien of Pine Bush posted 48 to edge Eric Koefed (51), 2 to 1.

Rondout picked up four and one half of the six points at stake in the No. 3 and No. 4 singles. Ron Hall carded 49 to win over Jeff Decker, who had a 52, by a 2½-½ margin.

In the final match, Bob Stange had a 53 to get a 2-1 edge over Guy Mitchell, who skied to a 56.

The Ganders, who defeated Onteora in an earlier meeting were scheduled to face the Boiceville Indians today at 3 p.m. over the Woodstock Country Club links where Onteora has been unbeatable this season.

Lawrence will go against John Buoymaster and Koefed takes on Vlad Hoyt, a Regional qualifier.

Flood's 12-Year Salary $387,000

CURT FLOOD

NEW YORK (AP) — In his 12-year career with the St. Louis Cardinals Curt Flood was paid $387,000 in salary—an average of more than $32,000 a year—while reaching a peak of $90,000 his last season before bringing suit against baseball.

Those financial figures are part of the trial record in Flood's suit against baseball in which he is challenging the sport's reserve system on the basis that it is restrictive and, therefore, in restraint of trade.

Flood, and his attorneys, are asking for relief from the system, which prohibits a player from selling his services to the highest bidder; and which makes him negotiate only with the club for which he is playing.

The first day's testimony in the trial which resumed today after a one-day recess provided a rare opportunity to look at the salary progression of one of baseball's legitimate stars within the framework of the controversial system.

Here is a table, put together from testimony, that shows the years Flood was with the Cardinals, his batting average for each year, his salary for that year and the raise he received going into that year for his previous season's efforts:

Year	Avg.	Salary	Raise
1958	.251	$5,000	...
1959	.255	$10,000	$5,000
1960	.237	$10,500	$500
1961	.322	$12,500	$2,000
1962	.296	$16,000	$3,500
1963	.302	$17,500	$1,500
1964	.311	$23,000	$5,500
1965	.310	$35,000	$12,000
1966	.267	$45,000	$10,000
1967	.335	$50,000	$5,000
1968	.301	$72,500	$22,500
1969	.285	$90,000	$17,500

In addition it should be pointed out that Flood also received a $2,000 bonus in 1959 and 1960 for signing his contract and collected an additional $24,015.71 for playing in three World Series.

The Phillies, who acquired the rights to Flood in the trade that provoked the suit, offered a contract for the 1970 season, according to Flood, for "a little more than $90,000" in salary plus approximately $8,000 in spring training expenses—a package in the neighborhood of $100,000.

One of the chief proponents of Flood's cause in instituting suit, Marvin Miller of the Major League Players' Association, has said that the issue of Flood's salary is irrelevant.

"There is," Miller has pointed out, "principle involved. To assume that everything is okay if the price is right is a system I don't buy.

"I think there are more important things in this world than money."

Sam McDowell's recipe might not be appealing to the average homemaker but it certainly satisfied his manager and definitely cooked the Boston Red Sox.

Sudden Sam, the Cleveland Indians' fireballing left-hander, reputed to be one of the hardest throwers in baseball, mixed his fastball with an assortment of ingredients which included a tantalizing slow curve, slider and change up "to keep them off balance," he said.

The southpaw, who leads the American League in strikeouts with 89 after fanning 10 Red Sox Wednesday night, limited the sluggers from Boston to four hits in the Indians' 7-2 victory, stemming Cleveland's string of losses at three.

In other AL action, Detroit blanked Baltimore 4-0 on Mickey Lolich's three-hitter, snapping the Tigers' slide at six games; Milwaukee nipped Oakland 8-7; Minnesota routed Kansas City 10-5; Chicago topped California 3-2, and Washington stopped New York 2-0.

In the National League, Montreal shut out New York 2-0, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2 in 14 innings, St. Louis got by Houston 3-2, Atlanta ripped San Francisco 6-1 and San Diego trounced Los Angeles 10-4.

"It was one of the finest games I've seen anybody pitch, anywhere," said a happy Alvin Dark, the Indians' skipper.

Reggie Smith, an unhappy Red Soxer, who slugged a solo homer off the 6-foot-4 McDowell in the fifth inning, had another thought: "The mistake we made was letting him off the hook in the first inning."

McDowell, 6-3, was reached for Boston's first run in that frame and had the bases loaded before putting down the threat.

The big left-hander, who has led the AL in strikeouts in four of the last five seasons, added to his cause, stroking two hits, including a seven-inning run-scoring single which snapped a 2-2 tie.

The Indians then sewed up the triumph in the eighth with a four-run inning, keyed by Tony Horton's two-run homer. Duke Sims also drilled a two-run blast in the fourth off loser Sonny Siebert, 3-2.

Lolich, the veteran Detroit southpaw, struck out nine while shutting out the Orioles, their first blanking in 36 games.

Lolich, 29, picked up his fifth victory of the season against four losses and increased his strikeout totals to 76, second to McDowell.

It was Lolich's 24th career blanking and was only the Tigers' fourth victory in 16 games. The Orioles have only lost three times in their last 14.

The Tigers got a pair of runs in the sixth off loser Tom Phoebus, 3-2, on run-scoring singles by Al Kaline and Willie Horton and got a two-run homer from Jim Northrup in the eighth.

Hank Allen's run-scoring double knocked in Steve Hovley, who had singled in the ninth off A's reliever Rollie Fingers, moving the Brewers into fifth place in the West and out of the basement for the first time since April 16.

Tommy Harper had a solo homer for the winners while Don Mincher drove in three runs for the A's with a double and home run.

The Twins belted the Royals into the West cellar, riding the hot streak of torrid Rod Carew. Carew, the Minnesota second baseman and defending AL batting champion, hit for the cycle —single, double, triple and game-breaking three-run homer, sending the Twins to their seventh consecutive victory.

Carew, the first player in the 10-year history of Minnesota to collect the cycle, raised his AL leading average to .432. In the Twins' winning streak, Carew has blazed at a .625 pace on 20 hits in 32 trips to the plate.

The Twins also got homers from Leo Cardenas, Rich Reese and Paul Ratliff. Amos Otis and Joe Keogh had roundtrippers for the Royals.

Washington scored a pair of unearned runs in the fourth inning without benefit of a hit and stopped the Yankees behind the four-hit pitching of Dick Bosman, 4-3, and reliever Darold Knowles.

Tom Seaver was beaten by Montreal for the second time in 10 days and again on a three-hit shutout. This time Carl Morton of the Expos did the job on the Mets, matching the three-hitter that Sam McGinn threw to beat Seaver in New York last week. Morton struck out 10.

Seaver also allowed just three hits and fanned 10 but two of the hits by Ron Fairly and Jim Fairey followed a pair of walks in the fourth inning and drove in the runs for the Expos.

Highland 5-4 Over Millbrook

HIGHLAND

Joe Skipp singled in Bob Mattice with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning as Highland defeated visiting Millbrook, 5-4, in a non-league game Wednesday. The Highlanders are now 8-5 on the year and travel to New Paltz Friday for an Ulster County Athletic League tilt.

With one out, Mattice rapped a single to center and then stole second. Doug Geer flew out, Mattice holding the bag. Skipp stepped to the plate and lashed a single down the left field line, scoring Mattice.

Skipp was three-for-four for the winners with two runs batted in. Mattice had two-for-four and scored twice. Gary Sisco and Dan Stoorza doubled for Highland.

Keith Williams was the winning pitcher. Terry Lester took the loss. Bob Setaro had two rbis for the losers.

UC Golfers On All-Star

MIDDLETOWN — Four members of the Ulster County Community College golf team have been named to the 1970 all-star team of the Mid-Hudson Conference.

The selections were based on the three best conference match scores reported during the season.

Kevin Capalbo qualified with 243; Dan Powell 244, Bob Terpening 346 and Ed Bardua, 248.

Orange County ace Bob Heins was the low man on the 10-player roster with a score of 222. Heins, runnerup in medal play in the Region XV tournament, will represent OCC in the National Junior College Athletic Association tournament, June 6-12, at Miami Lakes, Florida.

Other members of the mythical team: Ted Vallo, Dutchess, 226; Dan Jankowiak (OCC) 232; Pat Capalongo (Westchester) 236; Charles Levine (OCC) 239; Fred Gleffe (OCC) 241.

Capalbo was the No. 1 player on a UCCC squad which closed out the season in great style. The Senators placed third in the Region XV tournament at Terry Brae and Kutsher's and completed the season with a 10-2 mark overall and 4-1 in the Mid-Hudson Conference.

Orange County won the championship with a 5-0 record.

As freshmen, Capalbo, Powell and Bardua helped Ulster capture the Region XV Championship and a trip to the NJCAA Nationals at Roswell, New Mexico.

All three will be missing next season, when Coach Mike Perry must build his team around Ray Lindhorst, Bob Terpening, Richard Franzese and what is reported to be a bumper crop of freshmen recruited from Ulster County high school circles.

Bonnie Baker, who "held" Pine Bush to 18 hits, was the winning pitcher. Onteora collected 26 hits off Terri Pulver, Diane Caston and Carol Martin.

The OCS batting averages skyrocketed, as Lorelei Heidenstrim collected five hits, Kathy Melert had four. Three-hit players included Bonnie Baker, Mary McGrath, and Linda Crosby.

National Golf Day Extends to June 13

KINGSTON — National Golf Day (1970) runs almost a month this year, from Monday, May 17, to June 13, the Professional Golfers Association of America has announced.

The competition this year is co-sponsored by the PGA of America and Chevrolet.

PGA rounds may be played anytime between the two dates and a golfer may play as many rounds as he wishes. The target score will be lower of two rounds to be played on Memorial Day by Orville Moody, U.S. Open Champion and Ray Floyd, winner of the 1969 National PGA.

Before teeing off all golfers must contribute $1.00 or more for each round played.

All National Golf Day participants will compete against the winner of the Round of Champions between Moody and Floyd on the basis of their scores, with handicaps, in relation to par.

In other words, if the target score established is one under par, then participants must score two under par, with handicaps, at their own course in order to defeat the winner of the Round of Champions.

Men use their established handicaps in computing their net scores for National Golf Day purposes. Ladies will use their established handicaps, plus seven additional strokes. Those without handicaps may use the Callaway Handicap System for handicapping the unhandicapped.

Everyone who defeats the winner of the Round of Champions will win an attractive plastic bag tag.

Area pros who assisting in National Golf Day include Alex Gerlak, Twaalfskill; Ian (Scotty) Robertson, Wiltwyck; Jim Hutchins, Woodstock, and Stu Smith, Sawyerkill.

Scar Way Captures Featured 'Fifth'

MONTICELLO — It was a wire to wire and victory by four lengths at Monticello Raceway's featured fifth race trot Wednesday night for Scar Way, a 10-year-old gelding piloted by Irvin Foster, who cut the mile in 2:08.2.

All of the entries stayed in their same relative position around the track once they sorted themselves out after the start; and it was Battle Land, Gary Myer driving, who came in second; and Brahms, Robert Fesh the driver, who had the show money.

Four and eight were numbers which made up the daily double at Monticello on Wednesday night, returning $97.20 to the winners.

The opening pace was taken by Maynas Tommy, a New York bred 5-year-old gelding, driven by his trainer, Al Manzi. It was the first victory this year for Maynas Tommy, but his second time in the money in three starts. Better than that, he beat his previous lifetime winning record by completing the mile in 2:10 flat, an improvement of 3/5th's of a second over the mark established last year.

The second race was also a pace which was captured by Pacific G, another Empire State-born horse. The 4-year-old, John Bedell driving and training, beat out a full field of eight to tour the distance in 2:08.3. His 1970 record, too, is impressive. For nine times out, it now stands at 2-3-1.

This was "Wins-day", instead of Wednesday at Monticello. For the first time at any New York pari-mutuel track, patrons were awarded valuable prizes, on a ticket chance basis, following the completion of the last race. The "Wins-day" prizes were an 18-inch-color TV set and a mink stole.

Gallon Diamond, a member of the well conditioned Elmer Lob Looney Stables is the early 3-1 choice to continue his winning ways and top honors in Thursday night's featured fourth race.

Owned by Victoria Walker of Marydel, Md., and trained and driven by Elmer Looney, Gallon Diamond will be in search of his fourth win of the season and second in a row at the Mighty M.

Despite his seven post position, Gallon Diamond is given the slight edge in the $1,400 trot event, largely off last week's strong winning effort in 2:02.3.

The early choice has already earned $5863 from five starts and appears to be well on his way to bettering last year's earnings of $7982.

EARLY SIGNERS—Girl Scouts Annabelle Brice of Troop 62 and Anne Flood of Troop 150 sign up for this year's expanded camp program with a little help from Mrs. Susan Lovitch, Ulster County Girl Scout Council field advisor. The camp plans for 1970 season include something for everyone from regular sessions at Camp Wendy to two day camps and family weekend camping. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Wendy—Something for All

KINGSTON

Something for All the Girls is the theme of the camping program for 1970 being offered by the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts.

Not only something for the girls, but for mothers, fathers, sisters and brothers, as well. Family camping will be offered on three long summer weekends, Memorial Day, July 4 and Labor Day, when families of Girl Scouts may camp at Ulster County Girl Scout Camp Wendy, Wallkill, using all camp and waterfront facilities, for a small fee.

Something new has been added to program for Cadettes at Camp Wendy this summer, too. Romany unit will feature horseback riding, while Jungle will specialize in waterfront activity, with sailing offered for the first time this year.

Camp Wendy will offer resident camping for Brownies, with a one-week session starting July 12, learning to live away from home and have fun in the out-of-doors. For younger Junior Scouts, a one-week session starting July 19, will add up to six days of happy times with friends in Girl Scout camp, with waterfront activities, fun and camp crafts.

Pioneer unit will be reserved for a two-week period, July 12 through 25 for girls entering fourth, fifth and sixth grades in September. While learning to live comfortably in the out-of-doors, girls will improve their camping skills earning Junior badges. For this same two-week period, Cadettes, with special interest in waterfront activity will live in Jungle unit and have the opportunity to improve their skills in swimming, diving, canoeing, sailing and Junior Life Saving, while Romany, in addition to horseback riding, will follow a pattern of activities chosen by the girls themselves.

Senior Scouts also will have a place working as program assistants and earning credits toward their Senior Aide bars.

Ulster County Girl Scouts will have a choice of two Day Camp programs, one at Katrina Day Camp in Sawkill, the other at Singing Pines in Wallkill.

At Katrina, for eight days, June 29-July 2, nature skills and hiking will be the theme, with cookouts, singing, folk dancing, arts and crafts and an occasional sleep-out under the stars, on the program.

At Singing Pines, which is at Camp Wendy in Wallkill, Day Camp will be in session from July 27 through Aug. 8. Girls can enjoy group activities in camping skills, nature study, outdoor cooking, conservation and singing. Small craft skills, using canoes and rowboats will be included, as well as swimming.

This year, bus transportation will be provided for the Day Camps, from centrally located pick-up areas, schedule to be announced as registrations are received. Camp folders have been distributed to all registered Scouts in the Council. Any person wishing more information may call or write to the Girl Scout office, Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, UPO Box 26, Kingston 12401.

The local guests attending and those who will come from the other areas the hospital services, namely, Clinton, Elizaville, Germantown, Hyde Park, Milan, Pine Plains, Pleasant Valley, Red Hook, Stattsburg, Stanford and Tivoli will have an opportunity to learn of the problems of drug dependency and how it permeates every level of our society from one eminently qualified to discuss this timely topic.

A native New Yorker, Hepper during his 40 years of life has worked at more than 17 occupations, and which experience has served him well in his job as executive director of Kinsman Hall. He was graduated from Hofstra University in 1953 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology.

In 1962 he received a Bachelor of Divinity degree in theology and pastoral counseling from the Eastern Theological Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa.

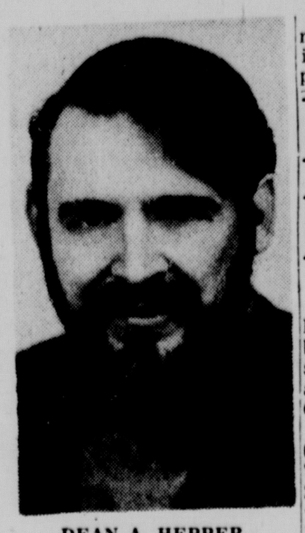

In 1963 he was ordained in the ministry of the Lutheran Church of Amenia. However, in 1964 he left the ministry and returned to the Nassau County Probation Department.

He remained for two years to found and develop the first Special Narcotic Unit for the investigation and supervision of drug dependent persons in the State of New York.

In 1966, he joined the New York City Commission in Human Rights as a Special Consultant. The same year he was appointed to the original Nassau County Drug Advisory Committee. In 1967 he was elected chairman of the first Nassau County Drug Abuse and Addiction Commission.

Throughout his public service and civic commitments Hepper has managed to work in the various private sectors.

He has been a director of human relations for private industry as well as a Special Consultant to the president of the State University at Stoneybrook, Long Island, New York and director of their drug program.

DEAN A. HEPPER

It was during a meeting of citizens who were concerned over the growing drug problem, over which he presided, which led to the founding of Kinsman Hall.

Kinsman Hall is a private, non-profit organization, receiving no state or federal funds. Parents are requested to contribute a moderate amount of money each month to cover their son's or daughter's maintenance. The remainder of the funds comes from contributions from organizations.

With the exception of top administrative personnel, the Staff is made up of ex-drug dependants who have gone through the program themselves.

The Hall's philosophy is that drug dependants are better helped by ex-drug dependants.

County Vols Schedule Future Murphy Rites

By ALBERT J CAWEIN

KRIPPLEBUSH

An appropriate ceremony will be scheduled at some future date for the installation of a plaque at the Mutual Aid Fire Control Center at Golden Hill honoring the late former Kingston Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy.

Arrangements for installation were announced by Miller Locke, chairman of the plaque committee at this week's meeting of Ulster County Volunteer Firemens Association held at Kripplebush Firehouse.

Locke said the plaque will be 13 by 16 inches with a 9 by 12-inch brass plate and will be installed as soon as completed.

The County Vols now have a clear mandate to seek a site for a county fire training center. John Mahoney, chairman of the Fire Training Center Committee said that 49 returns out of 55 mailed out to company members indicated that 45 were for a center, 2 against and 2 undecided. The individual member vote was 973 for and 108 against.

Charles Meiswinkle, chairman of the convention committee said tickets for the banquet July 23 are now on sale and asked members to purchase them as soon as possible as seating is limited to 300 at the new Glasco Fire Station. Only paid up members may purchase tickets.

The banquet will start the three-day County Vols convention. The annual business meeting and election of officers will be held Friday, July 24 at Saugerties Firehouse, Partition Street.

ACLD Hears Mrs. Dingee

KINGSTON

Mrs. Frieda Dingee director of the Multi Reading Program in Kingston, was guest speaker at the May 13 meeting of the Association of Children with Learning Disabilities. Mrs. Dingee explained the reading program to the parents and a film was shown on the "Hyperactive Child". A question and answer period was held following the showing of the film.

It was learned that a letter has been sent to the Kingston Board of Education by the Association requesting that all of the children on the waiting list for the "Child Study Program" at Edson School be admitted by September 1970.

Parents who have children with learning disabilities have been urged to attend these meetings at which time they can become a member of A.C.L.D." We are very fortunate to have so many professional speakers at our meetings who willingly inform the parents of new teaching methods, and how to deal with their problems and thus be better prepared to help their child, a spokesman said.

Charles Aliberto, physical education teacher in Hyde Park will be guest speaker at the next meeting which will be held June 10, 8 p. m. at the Edson School library. This will be the last meeting of the Association until September.

Dear Abby

Child Needs Kindness

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have an 11-year-old daughter I'll call Susie. My problem is what to do about her constant playmate. I'll call Mary. Mary lives around the corner and she and Susie are like Siamese twins.

Mary is a nice child, but her mother is a divorced woman who entertains gentlemen friends every night. (You know the kind?) Apparently she has no shame before her daughter from what Mary tells Susie. I've told Susie the facts of life, but it's nothing compared to what Mary has told her!

I hate to forbid Susie to play with Mary, but I can't have my daughter associating with a child who sees her mother carrying on with men and is probably taught to believe there is nothing wrong with it. Please tell me what to do.

SUSIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Why punish an innocent child (Mary) for the "sins of her mother? You could do Mary a tremendous favor by making her especially welcome in your home, where wholesome attitudes and decency prevail. Don't worry, Mary won't "corrupt" your daughter. In the meantime, the little neighbor girl needs kindness and understanding, not punishment for a situation for which she is blameless.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Someone said she read in your column that when a light-skinned black and a white person marry it is not possible for them to produce a coal black baby. I can't believe you said that because everyone knows a baby can be a throwback to several generations. Please put your answer in the paper. I want PROOF!

TOLEDO

DEAR TOLEDO: A child born of a black-white couple will not be darker than the darker parent. If two individuals marry, BOTH of whom have some black ancestry, it is possible for their children to be one or two shades darker than the darker parent, but no "coal black baby" suddenly pops up. One parent or the other would have to have been "coal black."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: : Would you please pass on these tips for girls who want to know if a man is married or single?

1. Beware of the man who removes his white shirt and necks in his underwear because it's "too hot." (His wife checks his shirts.)

2. The man who always washes his face before he leaves your apartment.

3. The man with the dirty license plate on his car if the rest of his car is clean. (He's experienced in hiding.)

4. The man who always leaves before midnight because he "has to get up early in the morning."

5 The man who visits his "mother" on holidays and every week-end, and he can't make dates with you very far in advance. (He never knows when his wife will let him out.)

6. The man who'd rather bring a bottle to your apartment than take you out because he wants to "relax" in peace and quiet.

Thanks, Abby, for all the advice I've received from you thru the years. You probably wonder why I'm still married. So do I. I can't sign my name because I'm still putting on a happy marriage act for the neighbors.

BEEN THERE—AND BACK

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

THAT GUITAR? (Q.) I love my boy friend, but it's that guitar! He calls me every night and plays it over the phone. I am sick of it. I try to change the subject but he goes right on playing.

Every night before we hang up he tells me he loves me. By then I'm so disgusted I can't tell him I love him. How can I make him stop playing that guitar? — Unstrung in Alabama.

(A.) I am not sure it is the guitar. But, just in case it is, be honest with your friend and tell him to put the guitar in the closet from now on when he calls you.

If, without guitar music, everything is OK, congratulations. If it isn't, you'll know you don't care as much for him as you thought you did. You'll know it was he, not the guitar, that was bugging you.

In that event, be honest again. Be kind to him, but tell him good-by, definitely.

NEEDED: (Q.) The kids at school say terrible things about my mother just to see me fight! Nobody can say such things about my mother and get away with it. So I fight, and they laugh at me.

Why do they do me like that? — Hot-Tempered Daughter in Washington, D.C.

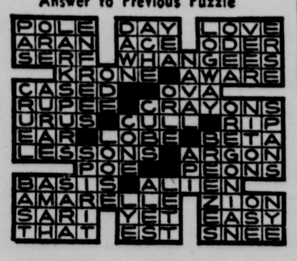

(A.) Many human beings get kicks out of lighting a fuse to others' weaknesses. They are not strong enough to stand on their own feet so they try to pull others down into the dirt with them.

Don't let these little people pull you down. Ignore them. Keep your eyes and your sights high. First thing you know you'll be so far above them you won't even hear them.

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2462 Houston, Texas 77001 Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.)

CARROLL RIGHTER'S horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon and important Jupiterian aspects makes this an extremely significant day and evening. You would be wise to decide early the changes you wish to make and to be equally definite in placing them in motion, whether they be quick decisions or ones you have been thinking about for a long time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Finding out what is expected of you by others and then showing a cooperative attiude toward them will bring fine results. Emotional attachment wants some new arrangement made. Be agreeable.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you cooperate more with associates, you find that you gain personal aims more easily. Show a more friendly attitude. Try a new approach to an old problem and get good results now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) If you have a talk with a higher-up first, you find you can get all that work behind you with maximum speed. Find the right method to get more cooperation from fellow workers. Advance more quickly in your career.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) This is a good day to make the right preparations for social and recreational activities for the future. Be sure you complete routine chores early. Please mate who is most appreciative of you today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You want to make additions to home and this is a good day to do so, but first get the approval of kin. Entertaining bigwigs at home in the evening is fine. Make an excellent impression and fine things can come of this.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Communicating with others will get fine results now since they will appreciate your ideas and you theirs. Buying, selling, making out reports, etc., are all fine today. Be wary of newcomers.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Contact that business expert immediately and find out how to have a greater abundance in the future and how to make improvements to property. Cut down on expenses. Follow your hunches, which are good.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be brief, but not terse, in asking others for advice, favors, and you get right results. You are highly magnetic and can make a fine impression on others. Show that you are an ethical person.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you are puzzled about some situation, go to the right sources for the true facts, data. Get that new plan working, but do not confide in others. Don't lose your temper with mate this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Your personal friends can be of tremendous help to you at this time, so get busy contacting them. A good day to repay social obligations, also. Show that you know exactly what it is you are doing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Discuss those mundane affairs with those in authority today, and you derive fine benefits. Be alert to some opportunity to advance at this time. Be sure to lend a helping hand to one in trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A message you receive from a distance help you to advance now. There is a bigwig who can come into your horizon who can also be more helpful. Stop dreaming so much and be more active.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY.. he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will have a curious and probing mind. This child will not be afraid to work until the right results are obtained. He or she will also get along famously with influential persons. There is every desire to get ahead and there can be fame here, provided the education is right. Teach ethics early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Feast in Midst of a Famine

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a feast Wednesday night in the midst of the summer television famine. There were so many special programs on the networks that they overlapped each other.

The evening opened and closed on serious notes. NBC presented a somewhat rambling and leisurely 90 minutes examining some of the sore spots in our educational system. ABC closed it with the third and last of its "Mission: Possible" series on environmental pollution.

In between there was a brief and brash special on ABC in which the Canadian comedy team of Wayne and Shuster pulled together a half hour of sight gags, blackouts and general nonsense on the subject of love through the ages. Then NBC's "Music Hall" launched its summer variety series starring British performer Des O'Connor.

"Give Us the Children" explored some reasons that children dislike school and do poorly as students. One educator complained that too many public schools function like factories with "little ticky-tacky people coming out one end."

The program also pointed out the difference in the quality of education received by students of "inner city" schools and those in more affluent areas. One school official said that out of 400 slum students examined by a dentist, 300 had serious tooth troubles and that few children ever had their eyes examined.

"If your face is sore and your eyes hurt, you can't study. And the heart of the matter is that if you can't read, you can't learn."

A major portion of the program was devoted to experiments in learning, including schools where children are encouraged to follow their own interests instead of an inflexible curriculum.

"Mission: Possible" went over the now familiar grounds of the deadly destruction of our environment with the usual assortment of experts giving learned opinions and scary warnings of emergency. When the cost was mentioned it was in the billions. The gist of the program seemed to be that it is a public emergency and that if anything is done, the public will pay for it in higher taxes and with higher prices. Meanwhile each individual should keep nagging and agitating so that something really will be done.

England's Des O'Connor, a new face on American TV screens, is a personable fellow with a pleasant singing voice and an eagerness to please. "Music Hall's" comedy sketches more or less fell apart and were rather primitive and not very funny. The series is made in London, but the guest stars were American exports including Liberace, and they all did the same sort of thing they always do on the Hollywood-made variety hours. It was light summer entertainment with emphasis on the light.

Bridge

Brain Backfire Wipes Out Set

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North's raise to two no-trump was doubtful. He did have a workable five-card club suit, but three of his seven high-card points were represented by jacks. Maybe his three nines were what encouraged him to bid.

South had no problem about going on to game. His 17 high-card points were giltedged. West opened the queen of spades. The suit was continued and South had to win the third lead.

He continued with a low club and against normal defense would have probably gone down two tricks. He would let East win the first club with his queen. East would shift to a heart and South would try the heart finesse and wind up losing four spades, one heart and one club. We say probably, because South might have gone up with the ace of hearts and settled for a sure down one.

Things didn't go quite that way. West was some sort of expert and when South led that low club West started to think. His thoughts went something like this. "Either South or my partner holds the queen of clubs. If South holds it he is going to finesse and my king is doomed. Suppose East holds that queen of clubs plus two small ones. If I play low South will put in dummy's jack. My partner will take his queen and later on South will be able to run the rest of the club suit. On the other hand if I play the king, South will have to take his ace right away and the club suit will be dead."

After all that thought, West produced the king of clubs. The ace was played from dummy and when East dropped the queen, South had five club tricks and the rubber.

West had thought long, hard and very unfortunately.

Approval Expected Soon

City Sewage Plant...Funds Available

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Federal funds are definitely available for the City of Kingston secondary sewage treatment plant, according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr.

Following Wednesday's announcement by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell that the state had approved $742,057 toward a $2,473,524 state-mandated sewage treatment plant for the city, Mayor Francis R. Koenig said he did not know whether or not federal funds were available. Under the state Pure Waters Program, the state pays 30 per cent of the cost, the federal government, 30 per cent and the community 40 per cent.

Fish said that the state's Pure Waters Act, under which the grants are provided, is designed to dovetail with the federal grant money available.

He said the State Health Department's plans and specifications for the city's sewage treatment plant which have already received state approval are now in the hands of federal engineers at their regional office in Edison, N. J., and further approval is expected within a week or two.

"The state generally doesn't certify a project unless it feels that federal funds will be forthcoming," he explained.

The federal examination of the plans is held in order to determine if they meet the statutory requirements set down by Congress.

Fish, who was one of the Congressmen who led the fight to get the full billion into the funding budget, said that the awarding grants is light this year and there is much more money now available than in 1969.

With regard to the city's share of the cost of the project, Assemblyman Bell said. "We all have to work toward the war on pollution. It is often difficult on the communities concerned. That is why the Pure Waters Act was enacted on a shared cost basis which is far better than the state mandating the project and the communities having to pay 100 percent of the cost.

Bell said he hoped the Pure Waters group would work with the mayor and the city engineers with regard to planning.

The new facility will be located adjacent to the city's primary sewage treatment plant on The Strand and will provide for the expansion of that plant by adding serations tanks, final settling tanks, control building, sludge thickener and chlorine contact plant.

Its 4.8 million gallons a day capacity will serve all of the city and some outlying areas.

4 Onteora Teachers: Sabbatical Leaves

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK

Recent action by the Onteora Board of Education has assured sabbatical leaves of absence for four teachers in that school district; guaranteed a solution to a problem some staff members have referred to as "The Big Lock Out."

Sabbaticals for the 1970-71 school year have been approved for Mrs. Walter Plate of the art faculty, Miss Miriam Smith of the English department, Bernard Stahl of the business department, and librarian Holly Beye.

The whole intent of sabbaticals was scrutinized by the board in arriving at its decision. Long-time thinking had led to the belief that the sabbatical was intended for those teachers interested in doing further study or research elsewhere in the country or abroad.

In applying for leave, Mrs. Plate and Stahl followed the established theory; she expressing a desire to observe new trend art courses in England, and he asking for what might be termed a "mini-sabbatical" outside the school district.

But the "typical" sabbatical was challenged this year in the requests submitted by librarian Beye and English Department chairman Smith. Both asked to be allowed to spend sabbaticals in the district, working with the students.

Impressed with not only the new idea behind the requests, but with the seriousness of the applicants themselves, the board shattered precedent; granted all four requests while denying none. The action may well change the whole conception of the "spirit" of a sabbatical; furnish new thought on the "benefits" it brings.

The board was also asked to intercede with the administration on behalf of staff members who were highly critical of recent action that resulted in a "lock out" of teachers wishing to use school buildings during off hours.

A letter from teacher Bert Breitenberger informed the board that tumblers in locks had been changed at the high school building in Boiceville recently, making keys held by staff members useless.

Dr. Donald P. Carson, assistant to the superintendent for business, said the tumblers had been changed to solve a security problem. He noted that doors had been left ajar or unlocked in the past; keys had been lost, had disappeared, or been entrusted to students; others had been duplicated; and reports of unchaperoned students in buildings on weekends had been received.

Called 'Repressive Move'

Several teachers argued that the building should be open weekends; that the non-issuance of keys to faculty was a "repressive move" to control minor misuse; that many dedicated teachers "need access" to the buildings evenings and weekends for extra work necessary in laboratory and other classes.

Dr. Carson insisted the move was not done "maliciously" and was not meant to reflect on the "trustworthiness" of staff members.

Board members agreed that when staff members want to use buildings outside of school hours, they should be encouraged to do so; that teachers can be trusted to take care of buildings and should be able to enter at will; that "if you trust your children to teachers, you should trust the building to them."

The board suggested the administration take measures that will make the building available to the staff outside regular hours.

All involved agreed that a solution would be worked out in the near future.

Education Still Big Business

By TIM SCHUSTER

NEW PALTZ

Were it not for the omnipresent posters and the frantic activity in the administration building, the casual observer might never know of the strike activities on the New Paltz campus.

While the burned buildings, presidential declarations, and flag raisings and lowerings consume headline space, the very real business of obtaining an education has not been forgotten.

Impressions gathered in a leisurely afternoon inspection of the college facilities Wednesday revealed a large number of students, both long and short haired, were busy in the pursuit of knowledge, whether cramming for finals in curriculum subject matter or listening to seminars on political activity.

Investigation of the tenth floor lounge of the faculty tower building, much maligned as being the haven of radicals living in pig-like splendor, revealed exactly four people in residence. One lie sleeping on a couch, two were reading periodicals, and the other sat trancelike in front of a blasting stereo. There was one sleeping bag on the floor, and the carpet had just been vacuumed.

The outdoor campus scene might have been lifted from last spring. Several girls lie sunbathing on the lawn; small groups of students gathered to discuss the never ending issues they are heir to; and intense professors gesticulated to groups of students attempting to learn under great spreading trees on the grass.

In the library, several dozen students wandered through the stacks, sat figuring with slide rules, read magazines, or sat staring vacantly out of windows at the smog over the mountains.

The small group of leaders of the student protest centered around the administration building. There was always somebody sleeping under a desk somewhere while others frantically typed material for distribution and tried to solve the innumerable logistical problems inherent in any type of organization.

A whimsical pencil drawing hangs outside Dr. John Neumaier's private office. Under the bold heading "El Presidente" is pictured a groveling man standing against a brick wall, with two South American banditos aiming their machine guns at him.

We don't know if it is a self-portrait.

Neumaier Dismissal Urged

The dismissal of Dr. John J. Neumaier, president of the State University, College at New Paltz, has been urged by the Kingston Post 150, American Legion which also seeks backing in its move from the county Legion organization.

John E. Van Dine, Post 150 commander, said today that veterans as a whole are dismayed at the condition which presently exists in New Paltz, a state university supported by taxpayers of New York State.

The resolution, calling for Dr. Neumaier's ouster was sponsored by Albert O. Sonnenberg, past commander. It was passed unanimously by the Kingston Post Tuesday night and will be presented to the Legion county meeting next Monday at the Cook-Taylor Post 111 in Ellenville.

The resolution, as drawn, "would have all 14 Legion posts in the county confront Gov. Nelson E. Rockefeller to demand the dismissal of Dr. Neumaier.

The Legion contends that the college administration "has permitted members of the faculty to indoctrinate its students with an ultra left wing philosophy that encourages dissent to a degree which has led to revolt and lawlessness and does nothing to suppress it.

The Legion claims that Dr. Neumaier has displayed his inability to maintain law and order and that the destruction of state property and the safeguard and general welfare of the student body as a whole are "threatened by the rampant disorders instigated by known outside agitators that have been allowed to prevail" on campus.

An Answer to Criticism

NEW PALTZ

An answer to the criticism leveled Wednesday by state and county legislators with regard to a flag flying over the State University College at New Paltz faculty tower building came today from the college administration which said:

"There was no flag even resembling the Viet Cong banner, which is red and blue with a yellow star, in evidence anywhere at the faculty tower or elsewhere on this campus."

"Although the college said it could not speak for the students who "unfurled the so-called 'flag', it is understood the cloth in question was from a drapery in the college theatre.

"The unnecessary confusion may have resulted from a Kingston radio broadcaster's remarks on the air which were apparently designed to get people excited about the so-called flag," the statement continued.

"It appears that a few students used the emblem as a symbol — through the black background — mourning for the killings at Kent and Jackson State colleges.

"A star in the center, cut from a piece of Red cloth was meant to be a symbol of the ideal of universal freedom.

"College officials understand that no provocation was intended by this expression of sympathy for the tragic deaths.

A Washington Trip

POUGHKEEPSIE

A delegation of 130 Vassar College students, led by Vassar president Alan Simpson, left for Washington today to meet with senators and congressmen to urge support of a bill to cut off funds for the war in Indochina.

A college spokesman said Simpson, 100 students and 29 other faculty members and administrative personnel are to meet for about six hours with 11 senators and 24 congressmen.

The group plans to meet with lawmakers who support President Nixon's war policy as well as sponsors of legislation who propose to cut off war funds, according to a spokesman.

Vassar trustees were to meet the contingents which traveled to Washington in four buses.
